County-Based Tax On Income Faces Uncertain Future

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A county-based graduated income tax measure "has a 50 per cent chance at best" of passage, Ohio House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess says.

The Perryburg Republican, meeting with newsmen following a GOP House caucus Tuesday, said reaction to the tax proposal in the caucus was "exceedingly mixed."

Kurfess admitted under questioning that "sure some members have come to me" asking that he not push the county income tax this session.

"It wouldn't have taken a caucus to know that some members have reservations about it," said Rep. E. W. Lampson, R-38 Jefferson, who sat in with Kurfess at the news conference.

The bill was drafted under the direction of Kurfess and introduced by Lampson, chairman of the Ways and Means subcommittee that finished its work on the bill Tuesday evening.

The subcommittee was to present the bill to full committee this morning so it can begin several weeks of hearings on it.

Kurfess said he does not consider the county income tax bill a Republican "policy" bill.

The speaker announced he is having a bill prepared to make it easier for county commissioners to adopt one of five permissive taxes approved by the legislature last session.

He said Republicans have agreed to suspend the rules to permit introduction of the bill either this week or next week.

Under the bill commissioners could adopt a permissive tax as an emergency. It would continue in effect unless it was repealed by a vote of the people.

Kurfess said a county would keep all money collected up to the time such a tax was repealed.

Under the bill, commissioners would also be able to adopt a resolution to put the tax question on the ballot or could adopt a tax subject to a referendum.

At present, commissioners can only adopt a permissive tax subject to a referendum. If the tax is not challenged by voters within 60 days, it goes into effect.

Kurfess said the bill gives commissioners the same authority that city councils now have in adopting taxes.

He said the bill "was a response" to some complaints from county commissioners who say it's too hard to enact the permissive taxes. The taxes are a $5 auto license fee, a one-half per cent sales tax, up to a 3 per cent real estate transfer tax, up to a 3 per cent hotel-motel tax or up to a 3 per cent utility tax.

Destroyer Skipper Testifies He Didn't Receive Message

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — The skipper of the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans testified today a message outlining expected plans for destroyer escort deployment around the Australian carrier Melbourne never was received by his ship before the two vessels collided last week.

Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore told a U.S.-Australian board investigating the collision that the period covered by the message was 24 hours starting on the morning of June 2 and included the time of the collision—3:15 a.m. June 3.

McLemore said he has learned that the other two American destroyers around the Melbourne also had not received the communication.

U.S. Navy spokesmen stressed, however, that the message, a regular daily communication was not an order for ships to follow and was considered more as an expected program for the day.

The spokesman said the missing message would not have had any effect on the collision, but did indicate communications problems between the Evans and Melbourne. The message originated aboard the Melbourne.

McLemore told the board of three Australian and three American Navy officers that he had gone to sleep about midnight, and was not awakened until a violent crash threw him from his bed.

In reconstructing the events of the day and evening before that, he said he knew of an exercise scheduled for the night but that it did not involve switching the Evans from one station to another.

McLemore, who lives in Vallejo, Calif., said that standing orders aboard the Evans were for him to be awakened if a change of station was coming, but not to be awakened if the vessel only changed speed or course.

The Australian Navy Department has said that the Evans had been ordered to switch from a screening position forward of the Melbourne to a plane guard position behind her.

Asked if he had any indication when he went to sleep that he might be required to change stations, McLemore said, "No, I really didn't know. I hadn't received the destroyer duty assignments of the day. Since then I have, and I was not the designated plane guard."

8 SDS Members
Given Jail Terms

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight leaders of the Columbia University chapter of Students for a Democratic Society were in jail today, starting 30-day terms for defying a court order banning disruptions on the Morningside campus.

State Supreme Court Justice Charles Marks found the eight guilty of criminal contempt of court Tuesday and imposed the maximum 30 day terms plus a $100 fine each.

NICE, France (AP) — Henri Ragot, 51, a salesman, was sentenced Tuesday to seven years in prison for stabbing Miss Marsha Wehr of Hamilton, Ohio, last year.

According to testimony at the trial, Ragot picked up Miss Wehr in his car, took her to a deserted road and tried to rape her. Miss Wehr, who was a student at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn., had been hitchhiking during a vacation on the French Riviera.

Twisters Rip Great Plains; Hail Reported

Damage Heavy,
But No Injuries
Are Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and violent thunderstorms battered the Great Plains Tuesday night and today, unleashing cloudburst rains and damaging wind and hail.

A tornado watch remained in effect through much of the night in portions of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. The region to the north, including additional areas of Kansas as well as parts of Nebraska and Iowa, was under a severe thunderstorm watch.

Police reported 100 homes were damaged in the West Texas city of Plainview by a tornado Tuesday night. The same storm smashed all the windows in a country club and in a shopping center.

No injuries were reported in the twister at Plainview or in one at Johnson's Lake, Neb., 85 miles west of Grand Island, where two cabins were destroyed. Other twisters were sighted near Bertrand, Neb., and Stratford, Tex.

Hail the size of golf balls, driven by winds up to 70 miles an hour, thrashed Hall Center, Tex., just south of Plainview. When the storm ended, hailstones were piled a foot deep in places.

Cloudburst rains of 3 inches or more swamped the eastern Oklahoma Panhandle and flooded portions of Oklahoma during the night. Two inches fell at Curtis, Neb., in only one hour which also featured a downpour of hail. Rains of an inch or more ranged northward into the Dakotas.

The widespread storms also

Accused Pair To Attend Family Rites

PARKERSBURG W. Va., (AP) — Young Susan and Roger Bailey faced the ordeal today of attending a pauper's funeral for 12 members of their family who perished in their burning home. The teen-agers are accused of setting the fire.

Susan, 15, and Roger, 13, are charged with murder in the blaze which trapped their parents and 10 brothers and sisters inside the small frame dwelling during the pre-dawn hours Sunday. Authorities said investigators found evidence that gasoline had been spread throughout the house.

Police and a family member speculated the fire was linked with Susan's being told by her parents not to date a 17-year-old youth who is her first cousin.

This was confirmed by Susan's older sister, Mrs. Judy Fury, 20, who recently moved to Joliet, Ill. She said the close blood relationship was "the reason Dad didn't want her going with him."

Six cloth-covered wooden caskets each containing two bodies, were lined up in a funeral home for this afternoon's service. The caskets will be transported by six hearses to neighboring Wirt County for burial in a common grave at Elizabethtown.

County officials said the welfare agency is paying the estimated $1,600 funeral costs.

Sideburns, Hemlines Are Topic At Board Of Education Meeting

Sideburns and hemlines were the major topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the Circleville Board of Education Tuesday night.

In a very brief meeting that lasted only about one hour, the board members established a new dress policy that will become effective with summer school this year.

According to the new code, boys will not be permitted to wear tight or short trousers. Belts on their trousers must be worn if the trousers originally had loops. Deliberately fringed, patched or bleached trousers will not be acceptable. Boys will not be allowed to wear T-shirts or sweat shirts unless of the sport shirt variety. Shirts with numbers on them are not permissible.

JACKETS or outside apparel are not to be worn during class time. Boys are to wear socks at all times.

"Proper respectable haircuts" will also be required at school, according to the new code. A respectable haircut is one that does not permit hair over the eyebrows, collar or ears.

Sideburns to the ear lobe will be permitted, but no lower. Students must be clean shaven at all times.

Attached heel plates are forbidden for all students.

Girls may not wear slacks or shorts of any kind in school unless given special permission. Dresses worn to school may not be shorter than four inches above the knee.

Under the new dress code, girls will not be permitted to wear their hair in curlers, use excessive makeup, let bangs touch the eyebrows or wear T-shirts and sweat shirts.

Acceptable apparel for girls will include skirts, pant dresses, pant skirts and culottes of acceptable length.

FRITZ Jacobs, superintendent of schools, stated that the dress code was established by a committee of administrators and teachers and then presented to the high school student council. All items in the code were approved by at least 90 per cent of the committee, Jacobs stated.

President's Surtax Plan Faces Congressional Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposed extension of the income surtax faces its first major congressional test in an atmosphere of deep political division and mounting official alarm over inflation.

The House Ways and Means Committee is under heavy pressure to act on the extension sometime this week. The surtax, now pegged at 10 per cent, is due to die at month's end unless Congress approves an extension.

Although not all Democrats on the committee favor Nixon's plans to extend the surcharge at its present rate for six months and then reduce it to 5 per cent for the rest of the fiscal year, they failed in a two-hour meeting Tuesday to come up with a modified version.

In the absence of a united Democratic front there seemed little doubt the President's proposal would get committee approval on a yes-or-no vote.

The 10 Republican members solidly back the White House and at least four of the 15 Democrats would go along, sources said.

But whether an unpopular bill given such a Republican label could pass the Democratic-controlled House was another question.

Just before the Democrats met, Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy somberly warned that inflation may be on the point of running away.

A sizable group of Democrats oppose extension of the surtax, except for a short term, until Congress can act on tax reforms they hope can provide additional revenues.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., one of the leaders of the reform-first bloc of Democrats, served notice his group will not vote to extend the surtax for a year.

And some Democrats have threatened a revolt against the traditional rule that tax bills are voted up or down without amendments if the Nixon plan is sent to the floor intact.

Ohio High Court Upholds Convictions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court upheld convictions of three men on murder charges today and set their execution dates.

The three are Robert Leroy Pruett, Conneaut; Robert Wigglesworth, Akron; and James Edward Crampton, Toledo.

Pruett was convicted of the Sept. 15, 1964, rape-slaying of a 17-year-old girl. The others were convicted of killing their wives.

Pruett's execution was set for July 11, Wigglesworth's July 18 and Crampton's for July 25.

A number of appeal possibilities remain open in all three cases.

Wigglesworth was convicted of the June 2, 1967 slaying of his wife, Edith, Crampton's wife, Wilma Jean, was slain Jan. 17, 1967 and he was tried later that year.

Sunday Liquor Sale Vote Set

Expect Result
To Be Close

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — To drink on Sunday or not to drink on Sunday.

This was the question before the Ohio House today. The answer could go either way depending upon the votes of a handful of undecided legislators.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-4 Perryburg, said there would be 30 to 35 GOP votes in favor of a bill to permit Sunday liquor sales, while House minority leader John C. McDonald, D-19 Newark, said there would be 18 to 24 Democratic votes.

Fifty votes are needed for passage.

The bill authorizes Sunday sales between 1 p. m. and midnight by local option. It would not make liquor available on Sunday in "dry" areas.

Voters could approve Sunday sales by all present permit holders or limit it to premises where the sale of food and other services exceeds 50 per cent of total gross receipts.

In floor action Tuesday, the Senate adopted 31-0 and sent to the House a bill to require all children starting school this fall to be immunized against German measles.

The bill's main sponsor, Sen. Clara E. Weisenbron, R-5 Dayton, said that after years of testing, the federal government on Monday finally licensed the first vaccine for German measles.

The bill permits children bringing written objections from home to be exempt from immunization.

The Senate adopted and sent money for capital improvements. Both were sponsored by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati.

Peking Claims Small Soviet Units Invade

TOKYO (AP) — Red China charged today that Soviet troops, tanks and armored cars had swept into Sinkiang province, carrying out "wanton provocations against three Chinese herdsmen who were grazing cattle." A woman herder was reported killed and a herdsman kidnapped.

The official New China News Agency said the Chinese Foreign Ministry had handed a note to the Soviet Embassy in Peking charging that "dozens" of Soviet troops crossed the border into Yumin County, in northwest Sinkiang, Tuesday night.

When Chinese frontier guards approached the soldiers, the note said, "the Soviet troops, truculently refusing to talk reason, were the first to open fire, killing a Chinese herdsman on the spot."

"Driven beyond the limits of forbearance," the protest continued, "the Chinese frontier guards were compelled to fight back in self-defense."

"The Soviet troops subsequently sent large numbers of tanks and armored cars to intrude into Chinese territory in an attempt to provoke still larger armed conflicts. The incident is developing."

The note warned the Soviet Union to change its "policy of territorial expansion and armed provocation against China." Otherwise, it said, the Soviets "will surely meet with severe punishment by the Chinese people, and the Soviet government must be held fully responsible for all the grave consequences arising therefrom."

The protest demanded an immediate halt to Soviet "encroachment" into Chinese territory and return of the kidnapped herdsman. Peking also said it reserved the right to demand compensation.

It was the second time this month that China had accused the Soviets of violating the border of the desolate northwestern province in which Peking's nuclear base is located.

The Soviet government had no immediate comment on the new charge. Tass, the Soviet news agency, had not reported the incident and a government spokesman in Moscow said he had no information on it.

On June 6, China charged in a protest note that Chinese were being killed and kidnapped in border incidents which were "still occurring incessantly."

Egyptians, Israelis Duel Across Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again Tuesday night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

Israeli batteries replied with mortar and artillery fire.

Meanwhile, five East Jerusalem Arabs went on trial in the Tel Aviv suburb of Lod on charges of setting fires and throwing grenades in Old Jerusalem. All pleaded innocent and charged that the police extracted statements from them under duress.

A sixth Arab, accused of being the leader of the group, is in a hospital for psychiatric observation.

Police Turn Back Cleveland Marchers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police turned back some 200 white persons Tuesday night who marched nearly a mile toward the house of Mayor Carl B. Stokes.

The marchers, mostly youths, were apparently protesting the fatal stabbing Monday night of 18-year-old Donald Wright.

14 Americans Killed In North Viet Red Night Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 68 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed.

In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bombs blasted their way into an American artillery base in foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down.

The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back.

When the enemy troops pulled out, they left their dead around the base. They also abandoned a flame thrower and 12 rifles.

The U.S. base is set up in a hilly area which serves as a key enemy infiltration route to Tam Ky, where heavy fighting flared last month.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have launched a series of operations to relieve the pressure on Tam Ky. One American officer said the enemy could have bypassed the American base.

"They could have gone around it," he said. "They just wanted to kill some people. The more Americans they kill, the greater the political pressure."

Forty miles south of the artillery base, other troops of the 196th Brigade came under attack during the night. When the fighting ended at daylight, the Americans counted eight North Vietnamese dead and captured a wounded enemy soldier. U.S. losses were one killed and seven wounded.

Meanwhile, waves of U.S. B52s bombed North Vietnamese troops and artillery along the Cambodian and Laotian borders near embattled Dak To and northwest of Saigon.

Between noon Tuesday and noon today, more than 50 of the big bombers dropped more than 1,500 tons of explosives along the southern stretch of the Cambodian border that runs into Tay Ninh province and farther north in the region where Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos meet. The U.S. Command said some of the raids were within two miles of Cambodia and Laos.

The U.S. Command said it was checking the report.

Two other American helicopter gunships were shot down in Cambodia on April 28, and a third came under heavy fire. Four Americans were killed and four were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced that another American helicopter was shot down Tuesday near the A Shau valley, 380 miles north of Saigon. Two Americans were wounded.

The U.S. Command reported about 50 rocket and mortar attacks during the night on allied bases and towns and said about half of them caused casualties or damage. Three hit American units around Dak To who are supporting a South Vietnamese division that has taken over the fighting in the mountains there.

Several Americans were wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. More than 100 rounds were fired at the allied positions.

A third helicopter was reported shot down northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border, raising to 2,712 the number of helicopters reported lost in the war.

Drug Confiscation Rate Much Higher

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. and Mexican border authorities seized more heroin and almost as much marijuana in the first three months of this year as in all of 1968, a U.S. Customs official reported.

Customs officer Joseph Jenkins told a U.S.-Mexican drug traffic conference Tuesday that authorities at the border seized 55.3 pounds of heroin during January, February and March compared to 54.8 pounds during 1968. He said a total of 147,624 pounds of marijuana was confiscated in 1968, compared to 107,329 pounds during the first three months of 1969.

The three-day conference, which ends today, is the fourth since 1960 in which Mexican and U.S. authorities have compared the two nations' efforts to control illicit drug traffic.

Accused Pair To Attend Family Rites

PARKERSBURG W. Va., (AP) — Young Susan and Roger Bailey faced the ordeal today of attending a pauper's funeral for 12 members of their family who perished in their burning home. The teen-agers are accused of setting the fire.

Susan, 15, and Roger, 13, are charged with murder in the blaze which trapped their parents and 10 brothers and sisters inside the small frame dwelling during the predawn hours Sunday. Authorities said investigators found evidence that gasoline had been spread throughout the house.

Police and a family member speculated the fire was linked with Susan's being told by her parents not to date a 17-year-old youth who is her first cousin.

This was confirmed by Susan's older sister, Mrs. Judy Furry, 20, who recently moved to Joliet, Ill. She said the close blood relationship was "the reason Dad didn't want her going with him."

Six cloth-covered wooden caskets each containing two bodies, were lined up in a funeral home for this afternoon's service. The caskets will be transported by six hearses to neighboring Wirt County for burial in a common grave at Elizabeth.

County officials said the welfare agency is paying the estimated $1,600 funeral costs.

President's Surtax Plan Faces Congressional Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposed extension of the income surtax faces its first major congressional test in an atmosphere of deep political division and mounting official alarm over inflation.

The House Ways and Means Committee is under heavy pressure to act on the extension sometime this week. The surtax, now pegged at 10 per cent, is due to die at month's end unless Congress approves an extension.

Although not all Democrats on the committee favor Nixon's plans to extend the surcharge at its present rate for six months and then reduce it to 5 per cent for the rest of the fiscal year, they failed in a two-hour meeting Tuesday to come up with a modified version.

In the absence of a united Democratic front there seemed little doubt the President's proposal would get committee approval on a yes-or-no vote.

The 10 Republican members solidly back the White House and at least four of the 15 Democrats would go along, sources said.

But whether an unpopular bill given such a Republican label could pass the Democratic-controlled House was another question.

Just before the Democrats met, Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy somberly warned that inflation may be on the point of running away.

A sizable group of Democrats oppose extension of the surtax, except for a short term, until Congress can act on tax reforms they hope can provide additional revenues.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., one of the leaders of the reform-first bloc of Democrats, served notice his group will not vote to extend the surtax for a year.

And some Democrats have threatened a revolt against the traditional rule that tax bills are voted up or down without amendments if the Nixon plan is sent to the floor intact.

Ohio High Court Upholds Convictions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court upheld convictions of three men on murder charges today and set their execution dates.

The three are Robert Leroy Pruett, Conneaut; Robert Wigglesworth, Akron; and James Edward Crampton, Toledo.

Pruett was convicted of the Sept. 15, 1961, rape-slaying of a 17-year-old girl. The others were convicted of killing their wives.

Pruett's execution was set for July 11, Wigglesworth's July 18 and Crampton's for July 25.

A number of appeal possibilities remain open in all three cases.

Wigglesworth was convicted of the June 2, 1967 slaying of his wife, Edith. Crampton's wife Wilma Jean, was slain Jan. 17, 1967 and he was tried later that year.

Prison Inmate Is Found Guilty In Pen Rioting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Douglas G. Clark, 26, an Ohio Penitentiary inmate serving 21-70 years for convictions in Toledo armed robbery cases and shooting with intent to kill, was convicted in Franklin County Common Pleas Court Tuesday of prison rioting.

His jury trial was one of a series being held for inmates accused of participating in rioting at the penitentiary last Aug. 20-21.

Clark was sentenced by Judge Leonard J. Stern to 5-30 years to be served at the conclusion of his present sentence.

Clark was found innocent of rioting charges in connection with the June 24, 1968 riot at the penitentiary. He is the 11th inmate to go on trial of 53 indicted by the grand jury.

Egyptians, Israelis Duel Across Canal

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian guns roared across the Suez Canal again Tuesday night, and the army said two Israelis were killed and seven wounded.

The Egyptians fired mortar and light arms at four places along the waterway, a spokesman said, and shooting continued sporadically through most of the night.

The Israelis killed two 18-year-old privates and the wounded were caught in the open by one shell.

Israeli batteries replied with mortar and artillery fire.

Meanwhile, five East Jerusalem Arabs went on trial in the Tel Aviv suburb of Lod on charges of setting fires and throwing grenades in Old Jerusalem. All pleaded innocent and charged that the police extracted statements from them under duress.

A sixth Arab, accused of being the leader of the group, is in a hospital for psychiatric observation.

Police Turn Back Cleveland Marchers

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police turned back some 200 white persons Tuesday night who marched nearly a mile toward the house of Mayor Carl B. Stokes.

The marchers, mostly youths, were apparently protesting the fatal stabbing Monday night of 18-year-old Donald Waight.

14 Americans Killed In North Viet Red Night Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces attacked three U.S. bases in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang during the night, killing 14 Americans, wounding 68 and destroying or damaging some artillery guns, the U.S. Command reported today. The Americans said 76 North Vietnamese were killed.

In the heaviest attack, North Vietnamese sappers armed with flame throwers and dynamite bombs blasted their way into an American artillery base in foothills 30 miles south of Da Nang. Eleven Americans were killed and 32 wounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

About 150 troops of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade were camped for the night when the sappers attacked shortly after 2 a.m. The enemy troops broke through the barbed wire perimeter under cover of a 70-round mortar barrage that pinned the Americans down.

The fighting was so close, spokesmen said, that the Americans were unable to call in bombers and artillery to help drive the North Vietnamese soldiers back.

When the enemy troops pulled out, they left their dead around the base. They also abandoned a flame thrower and 12 rifles.

The U.S. base is set up in a hilly area which serves as a key enemy infiltration route to Tam Ky, where heavy fighting flared last month.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have launched a series of operations to relieve the pressure on Tam Ky. One American officer said the enemy could have bypassed the American base.

"They could have gone around it," he said. "They just wanted to kill some people. The more Americans they kill, the greater the political pressure."

Forty miles south of the artillery base, other troops of the 196th Brigade came under attack during the night. When the fighting ended at daylight, the Americans counted eight North Vietnamese dead and captured a wounded enemy soldier. U.S. losses were one killed and seven wounded.

Meanwhile, waves of U.S. B52s bombed North Vietnamese troops and artillery along the Cambodian and Laotian borders near embattled Dak To and northwest of Saigon.

Between noon Tuesday and noon today, more than 50 of the big bombers dropped more than 1,500 tons of explosives along the southern stretch of the Cambodian border that runs into Tay Ninh province and farther north in the region where Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos meet.

The U.S. Command said some of the raids were within two miles of Cambodia and Laos.

The U.S. Command said it was checking the report.

Two other American helicopter gunships were shot down in Cambodia on April 28, and a third came under heavy fire. Four Americans were killed and four were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced that another American helicopter was shot down Tuesday near the A Shau valley, 380 miles north of Saigon. Two Americans were wounded.

The U.S. Command reported about 50 rocket and mortar attacks during the night on allied bases and towns and said about half of them caused casualties or damage. Three hit American units around Dak To who are supporting a South Vietnamese division that has taken over the fighting in the mountains there. Several Americans were wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. More than 100 rounds were fired at the allied positions.

A third helicopter was reported shot down northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian border, raising to 2,712 the number of helicopters reported lost in the war.

Voters Reject Zane Trace School Levy

The Zane Trace 9 - mill school levy was defeated in a special election held yesterday in Ross County.

The levy, which was defeated in November, was again rejected by district voters by a margin of five votes. The unofficial count was 626 for, 631 against the levy. It can only be voted again in November.

Any future action will be determined by the Board of Education in a special meeting tonight.

Everett Park, superintendent of Zane Trace schools, said "the determining factor is the amount of money we will have to borrow to meet payroll and expenses." The school has already borrowed $31,000 from the second half of the year's funds in order to meet the payroll of employees. "We plan to operate the school until we exhaust our borrowing power," the superintendent added.

When asked about the prospects of the Adelphi elementary school, which was recently condemned by the State Board of Health, Superintendent Park said, "There is no money to spend at the Adelphi school." The Adelphi school cannot reopen unless a new sanitary disposal system is installed.

There have been 11 teacher resignations to date in the Zane Trace school district. Superintendent Park expects a deluge of resignations following the outcome of Tuesday's election.

Find Daytonian Guilty Of Rape; Mental Test Set

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Charles Lee Young, one of eight men charged with abducting and raping a nurse Feb. 10, was convicted on five of six charges early today.

Common Pleas Judge Rodney M. Love immediately committed Young to Lima State Hospital for mental tests, as required by state law in sex convictions.

The combined convictions carry a maximum sentence of 15-100 years in prison. Young was acquitted of a robbery charge which stemmed from the alleged theft of the nurse's ring.

The nurse testified that the men took her to a house and forced her to submit to them for four hours, during which she was stabbed and burned with cigarettes. The seven other defendants still face trial.

Attempted Rape, Immoral Act Charges Are Reduced

Attempted rape charges, an alleged immoral act between an adult and a minor and the failure of sheriff's deputy to conform to regulations regarding the searching of a private dwelling were heard in Juvenile Court recently.

Two Ashville boys, ages 13 and 14, were charged with the attempted rape of a 14 - year-old Ashville girl at the local school grounds.

The charges against both boys were reduced to assault. They entered pleas of guilty to the amended charges and were given suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission. The two boys were placed on probation for three years.

Charges were also brought against a 22-year-old New Holland man, Anthony Speakman, for engaging in an immoral act with a 17-year-old girl.

The charges against the man were amended when he applied to Judge Guy Cline to forbid introduction of information gained by Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies in an alleged improper search of his home, in which they found the minor.

The court upheld the defendant's charge that the search was unconstitutional.

Charges were reduced to contributing to the delinquency of a minor by keeping her away from home after curfew.

He received a suspended 60 day sentence to the county jail and was placed on probation for one year.

The charges against the girl involved were also reduced from engaging in an immoral act to violation of curfew. She was placed on probation for one year.

The mother of the minor girl involved was charged with contributing to the delinquency of her daughter by allowing her to be out after curfew. The mother was placed on one year's probation.

A 17-year-old Orient youth was charged with entering Scioto Twp. School May 23, 1969 and threatening to do bodily harm to two students. He received a 30 day detention sentence, had his probation continued and was ordered not to return to the school.

An Ashville youth, 17-years-old, was charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny. The youth allegedly broke into the Lutz Coffee Shop on the night of May 8, 1969 and stole three wrist watches valued at $103. On May 23, he allegedly returned and stole $80 in cash.

Judge Guy Cline sentenced the youth to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission.

In traffic cases before the court, Dale Kneec, 17, Route 4, entered a not guilty plea to a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He received a suspended $15 fine and had his license restricted for three months.

Richard Hanley, 17, Route 1, Ashville, was charged with making an improper turn, wrong usage of a traffic lane and failure to yield the right of way. He was fined $10 plus costs and ordered to attend traffic school. The fine was suspended.

Ricky Penix, 17, Route 1, Clarksburg, entered a no plea to a charge of speeding 90 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. He received a $25 fine with $10 of the fine suspended. His license was restricted three months.

Two Circleville boys were charged with truancy. Both were placed on one year's probation and ordered to complete 100 hours of community work.

Skid Results In Injury, Slight Damage

Tracy Perkins, 11, Route 3, Circleville, was injured Tuesday when the car she was riding in skidded on gravel and struck a fence post.

The accident occurred 5:40 p.m. on the Old Water Works Road, two miles south of the Circleville - Florence Chapel Road, according to Sheriff's Deputy John Bost, who investigated the accident.

According to Sandra Graffis, Williamsport, who was driver of the car, she was driving west on the Old Water Works Road, and in negotiating a curve, slid on loose gravel. Bost estimates she skidded 80 feet and was traveling 20 miles per hour.

Perkins suffered an injury to the leg below the right knee and was taken to Berger Hospital.

The right front and side of the car was damaged.

Three fence posts and portions of the fence were damaged. The fence is owned by George Miller.

Explosion Rips Greek Building

ATHENS (AP) — An explosion today rocked the ground floor entrance of a downtown building housing the U.S. and British information services and the American military mission.

Two Greeks were slightly injured by glass from the building's door. The blast frightened tourists sitting in a sidewalk cafe a few yards away.

Presumably the bomb was planted by opponents of the military dictatorship. There have been a series of such bombings and anonymous telephone calls to foreign correspondents and have said the intent is to scare tourists off and persuade the U.S. government to withdraw its support from the regime.

House, Tractor Damaged In Separate Blazes

Two local fires were investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Tuesday.

A fire at the Mildred Pickert residence on Circleville-Tarleton-Northern Road was reported about 11:10 a.m. Members of the Clearcreek Fire Department from Stoutsville responded to the call.

The fire, which is believed to have begun in a large quantity of papers and magazines in the hallway, traveled up the wall to the attic, according to the report.

The entire house was damaged to some extent, according to investigating officer Warren Straley of the Pickaway County Sheriff's deputy. No estimate of damage was made.

The second fire occurred at a barn owned by William Cromely, Cromely Road, about 5:50 p.m. Tuesday.

Harrison Twp. Fire Department was called to put out the blaze, which destroyed a 1952-model tractor and damaged the barn.

The fire, which caused an estimated $500 damage, was started when the motor of the tractor caught fire, according to the report by Deputy Don Thompson.

Voters Reject Zane Trace School Levy

The Zane Trace 9 - mill school levy was defeated in a special election held yesterday in Ross County.

The levy, which was defeated in November, was again rejected by district voters by a margin of five votes. The unofficial count was 626 for, 631 against the levy. It can only be voted again in November.

Any future action will be determined by the Board of Education in a special meeting tonight.

Everett Park, superintendent of Zane Trace schools, said "the determining factor is the amount of money we will have to borrow to meet payroll and expenses." The school has already borrowed $31,000 from the second half of the year's funds in order to meet the payroll of employees. "We plan to operate the school until we exhaust our borrowing power," the superintendent added.

When asked about the prospects of the Adelphi elementary school, which was recently condemned by the State Board of Health, Superintendent Park said, "There is no money to spend at the Adelphi school." The Adelphi school cannot reopen unless a new sanitary disposal system is installed.

There have been 11 teacher resignations to date in the Zane Trace school district. Superintendent Park expects a deluge of resignations following the outcome of Tuesday's election.

Find Daytonian Guilty Of Rape; Mental Test Set

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Charles Lee Young, one of eight men charged with abducting and raping a nurse Feb. 10, was convicted on five of six charges early today.

Common Pleas Judge Rodney M. Love immediately committed Young to Lima State Hospital for mental tests, as required by state law in sex convictions.

The combined convictions carry a maximum sentence of 15-100 years in prison. Young was acquitted of a robbery charge which stemmed from the alleged theft of the nurse's ring.

The nurse testified that the men took her to a house and forced her to submit to them for four hours, during which she was stabbed and burned with cigarettes. The seven other defendants still face trial.

Attempted Rape, Immoral Act Charges Are Reduced

Attempted rape charges, an alleged immoral act between an adult and a minor and the failure of sheriff's deputy to conform to regulations regarding the searching of a private dwelling were heard in Juvenile Court recently.

Two Ashville boys, ages 13 and 14, were charged with the attempted rape of a 14 - year-old Ashville girl at the local school grounds.

The charges against both boys were reduced to assault. They entered pleas of guilty to the amended charges and were given suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission. The two boys were placed on probation for three years.

Charges were also brought against a 22-year-old New Holaland man, Anthony Speakman, for engaging in an immoral act with a 17-year-old girl.

The charges against the man were amended when he applied to Judge Guy Cline to forbid introduction of information gained by Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies in an alleged improper search of his home, in which they found the minor.

The court upheld the defendant's charge that the search was unconstitutional.

Charges were reduced to contributing to the delinquency of a minor by keeping her away from home after curfew.

He received a suspended 60 day sentence to the county jail and was placed on probation for one year.

The charges against the girl involved were also reduced from engaging in an immoral act to violation of curfew. She was placed on probation for one year.

The mother of the minor girl involved was charged with contributing to the delinquency of her daughter by allowing her to be out after curfew. The mother was placed on one year's probation.

A 17-year-old Orient youth was charged with entering Scioto Twp. School May 23, 1969 and threatening to do bodily harm to two students. He received a 30 day detention sentence, had his probation continued and was ordered not to return to the school.

An Ashville youth, 17-years-old, was charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny. The youth allegedly broke into the Lutz Coffee Shop on the night of May 8, 1969 and stole three wrist watches valued at $103. On May 23, he allegedly returned and stole $80 in cash.

Judge Guy Cline sentenced the youth to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission.

In traffic cases before the court, Dale Knece, 17, Route 4, entered a not guilty plea to a charge of reckless operation of a motor vehicle. He received a suspended $15 fine and had his license restricted for three months.

Richard Hanley, 17, Route 1, Ashville, was charged with making an improper turn; wrong usage of a traffic lane and failure to yield the right of way. He was fined $10 plus costs and ordered to attend traffic school. The fine was suspended.

Ricky Penix, 17, Route 1, Clarksburg, entered a no plea to a charge of speeding 90 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone. He received a $25 fine with $10 of the fine suspended. His license was restricted three months.

Two Circleville boys were charged with truancy. Both were placed on one year's probation and ordered to complete 100 hours of community work.

Skid Results In Injury, Slight Damage

Tracy Perkins, 11, Route 3, Circleville, was injured Tuesday when the car she was riding in skidded on gravel and struck a fence post.

The accident occurred 5:40 p.m. on the Old Water Works Road, two miles south of the Circleville - Florence Chapel Road, according to Sheriff's Deputy John Bost, who investigated the accident.

According to Sandra Graffis, Williamsport, who was driver of the car, she was driving west on the Old Water Works Road, and in negotiating a curve, slid on loose gravel. Bost estimates she skidded 80 feet and was traveling 20 miles per hour.

Perkins suffered an injury to the leg below the right knee and was taken to Berger Hospital.

The right front and side of the car was damaged. Three fence posts and portions of the fence were damaged. The fence is owned by George Miller.

Presumably the bomb was planted by opponents of the military dictatorship. There have been a series of such bombings and anonymous telephone calls to foreign correspondents and have said the intent is to scare tourists off and persuade the U.S. government to withdraw its support from the regime.

Stock Market Down Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined early this afternoon in continued reaction to a suggestion that wage and price controls might be invoked if the surtax isn't extended.

The slump got under way late Tuesday after Treasury Secretary Kennedy hinted that such action was a possibility if Congress doesn't continue the tax.

The market also was laboring under the pressure generated by the increase in the bank prime rate Monday.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 6.98 at 905.51.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had dropped 2.5 to 322.0 with industrials off 2.6, rails off 1.5 and utilities off 2.5.

Clarksburg Man Injured In Two-Car Wreck

A Clarksburg man was injured in a two-car accident on Route 207 at the intersection of Clarksburg-New Holland Road about 6:51 p.m. Sunday.

Don Hyer, 47, Clarksburg, was taken to Chillicothe Hospital for emergency treatment of lacerations to his face and right leg.

Hyer told Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz that he had stopped in the northbound lane of Route 207 to make a left turn onto Clarksburg-New Holland Road. He stated that he saw a car stopped on the side road, but did not see anyone approaching in the southbound lane.

As Hyer pulled his car into the southbound lane, a vehicle driven by Gerald Penix, 26, Water St., rounded a curve in the road.

Penix told Deputy Dountz that he swerved to the right to avoid the accident, but the Hyer car kept coming across the road.

The 1965-model car driven by Hyer was demolished. The Penix car was badly damaged in front.

No citations were issued by the sheriff's department.

Two local fires were investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Tuesday.

A fire at the Mildred Pickert residence on Circleville-Tarleton-Northern Road was reported about 11:10 a.m. Members of the Clearcreek Fire Department from Stoutsville responded to the call.

The fire, which is believed to have begun in a large quantity of papers and magazines in the hallway, traveled up the wall to the attic, according to the report.

The entire house was damaged to some extent, according to investigating officer Warren Straley of the Pickaway County Sheriff's deputy. No estimate of damage was made.

The second fire occurred at a barn owned by William Cromely, Cromely Road, about 5:50 p.m. Tuesday.

Harrison Twp. Fire Department was called to put out the blaze, which destroyed a 1952-model tractor and damaged the barn.

The fire, which caused an estimated $500 damage, was started when the motor of the tractor caught fire, according to the report by Deputy Don Thompson.

Grand Jury Names 3 Men In Murder Case

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Darke County Grand Jury Tuesday indicted three men on first-degree murder charges in the beating death of a 73-year-old area farmer a year ago.

Indicted were David W. Arnett, 22, of Route 1, Rossburg, and two cousins from Piqua, Terry D. White, 20, and Joseph R. White, 22.

The White cousins were arrested Saturday in Arizona and were expected to be returned here today.

The three are accused of slaying Fred Coppess, who was badly beaten in his barn on April 11, 1968, and died two days later.

'VC Government' Blasted By Saigon Regime

PARIS (AP)—The Viet Cong's announcement that it has formed a provisional government for South Vietnam appears to have been timed to take the edge off the show of solidarity by President Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at their Midway Island meeting Sunday.

The Viet Cong Radio announced Tuesday night that a special congress of "resistance forces" at a weekend meeting set up a "revolutionary government to rule Vietnam."

The Saigon government called creation of the provisional regime a "trick tactic" in the Viet Cong's campaign for a coalition government to rule South Vietnam.

He noted that Nixon and Thieu at Midway agreed to "reject any attempt to impose upon the Republic of Vietnam any particular form of government, such as coalition, without regard to the will of the people of South Vietnam."

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Chanh Thanh described the move as "another deceitful tactic of the Communists which may cause detriment to the progress of the Paris peace talks."

"The move contained nothing new," he added. "Several different 'coalitions,' 'alliances' and 'fronts' were previously set up by the Communists at different periods for propaganda purposes. The so-called provisional government's program of action is but a mere repetition of the one advanced by Hanoi and its agents in the South.

"The new organization is run by the same persons, well-known as either members of the Communist party or closely associated with it."

Radio Hanoi announced that the two top positions in the "provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam" would be held by the two top officials of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Proclamation of the provisional government had been expected for months.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the NLF's deputy negotiator in Paris, was named foreign minister and head of the Paris team. The 41-year-old woman led the NLF delegation when it arrived in Paris but later was replaced by Tran Buu Kiem.

Informed sources said Kiem was being recalled to Vietnam to take an important post in the new government.

It was not known whether Mme. Binh would attempt to have the provisional government recognized at the conference table as a replacement for the NLF delegation. The United States and South Vietnam would be certain to refuse any such recognition, and this could develop into another long procedural wrangle on the order of the dispute over the shape of the conference table that delayed the conference for weeks.

When Mme. Binh came to Paris last November, she was asked why the NLF did not set itself up as a South Vietnamese government in opposition to the Saigon regime. She said the NLF already was functioning as a government in effect and would take the necessary further steps when that would be expedient.

Backer Of 'Black Lung' Bill Unhappy With Final Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The main sponsor of a bill to allow coal miners having black lung disease to receive workmen's compensation is unhappy about the way it came out of committee.

"A miner would have to change his occupation or receive zero benefits," explained Rep. Keith McNamara, R - 64 Columbus.

The House Commerce and Labor Committee Tuesday night weakened the bill and then recommended it for passage.

It amended the bill to list the disease caused by breathing coal dust under "change of occupation" instead of "permanent partial disability."

"The problem," McNamara said, "is that there just aren't that many jobs available in Appalachia. If there were lots of job opportunities, the men wouldn't be in the mines in the first place."

McNamara considered the amendment the work of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, which is opposed to the bill.

The chairman of the subcommittee that made the change, Rep. Allen J. Bartunek, R-54 Cleveland Heights, said "if a miner is suffering from black lung disease, he should not be encouraged to stay in the mine by receiving benefits."

"We felt he should leave the occupation that would eventually mean his death," Bartunek said.

The committee voted 12-0 to pass the bill out, but left the roll call open so absent committee members could vote.

Under the bill, if a miner with black lung disease changed occupations upon his doctor's recommendation, he would be entitled to benefits of $49 a week for 30 weeks.

After that period, he would receive up to two-thirds of the loss of wages resulting from his change in occupation for 75 weeks. This could not amount to more than $40.25 a week.

Stock Mart Outlawing Pranksters

NEW YORK (AP)—Water pistol fights have been banned from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Also out are such capers as dousing people with talcum powder or disrupting business by sending up gas-filled balloons.

Instructions to this effect have been issued to the 1,366 members of the Big Board by Bernard J. Lasker, chairman of the exchange's board of directors, he confirmed Monday. A similar directive went out to the 2,000 men and boys who perform support duties on the floor.

Members who violate the taboo will be fined $1,000, and the others will be suspended from work for two weeks.

Lasker declined to elaborate, but brokerage sources said pranksterism in recent weeks had disrupted trading and even damaged some electronic communications devices.

Stock exchange folk have an old tradition of sprinkling talcum powder on prospective bridegrooms. On a recent occasion, the talcum powder flew so freely it put a number of teletype machines out of whack.

In another incident, an order clerk was squirted with a water pistol from the rear while making a phone call. He whipped around and slugged what he thought was his assailant, who fell down and fractured a shoulder. It turned out the injured man was an innocent bystander.

Backer Of 'Black Lung' Bill Unhappy With Final Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The main sponsor of a bill to allow coal miners having black lung disease to receive workmen's compensation is unhappy about the way it came out of committee.

"A miner would have to change his occupation or receive zero benefits," explained Rep. Keith McNamara, R - 64 Columbus.

The House Commerce and Labor Committee Tuesday night weakened the bill and then recommended it for passage.

It amended the bill to list the disease caused by breathing coal dust under "change of occupation" instead of "permanent partial disability."

"The problem," McNamara said, "is that there just aren't that many jobs available in Appalachia. If there were lots of job opportunities, the men wouldn't be in the mines in the first place."

McNamara considered the amendment the work of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association, which is opposed to the bill.

The chairman of the subcommittee that made the change, Rep. Allen J. Bartunek, R-54 Cleveland Heights, said "if a miner is suffering from black lung disease, he should not be encouraged to stay in the mine by receiving benefits."

"We felt he should leave the occupation that would eventually mean his death," Bartunek said.

The committee voted 12-0 to pass the bill out, but left the roll call open so absent committee members could vote.

Under the bill, if a miner with black lung disease changed occupations upon his doctor's recommendation, he would be entitled to benefits of $49 a week for 30 weeks.

After that period, he would receive up to two-thirds of the loss of wages resulting from his change in occupation for 75 weeks. This could not amount to more than $40.25 a week.

Stock Mart Outlawing Pranksters

NEW YORK (AP) — Water pistol fights have been banned from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

Also out are such capers as dousing people with talcum powder or disrupting business by sending up gas-filled balloons.

Instructions to this effect have been issued to the 1,366 members of the Big Board by Bernard J. Lasker, chairman of the exchange's board of directors, he confirmed Monday. A similar directive went out to the 2,600 men and boys who perform support duties on the floor.

Members who violate the taboo will be fined $1,000, and the others will be suspended from work for two weeks.

Lasker declined to elaborate, but brokerage sources said pranksterism in recent weeks had disrupted trading and even damaged some electronic communications devices.

Stock exchange folk have an old tradition of sprinkling talcum powder on prospective bridegrooms. On a recent occasion, the talcum powder flew so freely it put a number of teletype machines out of whack.

In another incident, an order clerk was squirted with a water pistol from the rear while making a phone call. He whipped around and slugged what he thought was his assailant, who fell down and fractured a shoulder. It turned out the injured man was an innocent bystander.

However, police said charges of carrying a concealed weapon and pointing a firearm had been filed against the man, Orville Lee Wagner, 26.

Wagner was arrested Tuesday night as he left a local supermarket. Police, acting on an anonymous tip, found Zimmerman's body early Tuesday in a car parked on a Norwood street.

Grand Jury Names 3 Men In Murder Case

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Darke County Grand Jury Tuesday indicted three men on first-degree murder charges in the beating death of a 73-year-old area farmer a year ago.

Indicted were David W. Arnett, 22, of Route 1, Rossburg, and two cousins from Piqua, Terry D. White, 20, and Joseph R. White, 22.

The White cousins were arrested Saturday in Arizona and were expected to be returned here today.

The three are accused of slaying Fred Coppess, who was badly beaten in his barn on April 11, 1968, and died two days later.

'VC Government' Blasted By Saigon Regime

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's announcement that it has formed a provisional government for South Vietnam appears to have been timed to take the edge off the show of solidarity by President Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu at their Midway Island meeting Sunday.

The Viet Cong Radio announced Tuesday night that a special congress of "resistance forces" at a weekend meeting set up a "revolutionary government to rule Vietnam."

The Saigon government called creation of the provisional regime a "trick tactic" in the Viet Cong's campaign for a coalition government to rule South Vietnam.

He noted that Nixon and Thieu at Midway agreed to "reject any attempt to impose upon the Republic of Vietnam any system or program or any particular form of government, such as coalition, without regard to the will of the people of South Vietnam."

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Khanh Thanh described the move as "another deceitful tactic of the Communists which may cause detriment to the progress of the Paris peace talks."

"The move contained nothing new," he added. "Several different 'coalitions,' 'alliances' and 'fronts' were previously set up by the Communists at different periods for propaganda purposes. The so-called provisional government's program of action is but a mere repetition of the one advanced by Hanoi and its agents in the South.

"The new organization is run by the same persons, well-known as either members of the Communist party or closely associated with it."

Radio Hanoi announced that the two top positions in the "provisional revolutionary government of the Republic of South Vietnam" would be held by the two top officials of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Proclamation of the provisional government had been expected for months.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, the NLF's deputy negotiator in Paris, was named foreign minister and head of the Paris team. The 41-year-old woman led the NLF delegation when it arrived in Paris but later was replaced by Tran Buu Kiem.

Informed sources said Kiem was being recalled to Vietnam to take an important post in the new government.

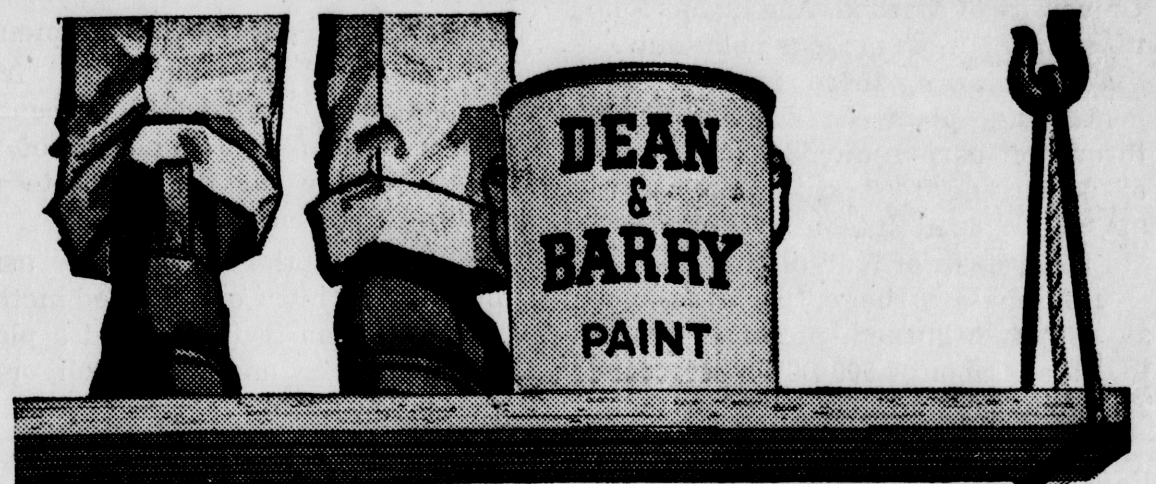

It was not known whether Mme. Binh would attempt to have the provisional government recognized at the conference table as a replacement for the NLF delegation. The United States and South Vietnam would be certain to refuse any such recognition, and this could develop into another long procedural wrangle on the order of the dispute over the shape of the conference table that delayed

the conference for weeks.

When Mme. Binh came to Paris last November, she was asked why the NLF did not set itself up as a South Vietnamese government in opposition to the Saigon regime. She said the NLF already was functioning as a government in effect and would take the necessary further steps when that would be expedient.

Harnessing Pollutants

"With a little imagination, it can be determined that almost every waste product has economic value, directly or as a processed material," says Dr. Richard A. Kassander Jr. of the University of Arizona. And he has found uses for the most noxious pollutants.

For instance, there is the power generating plant in Mexico which throws off carbon dioxide gas. Instead of permitting the gas to pollute the air, it is piped into a greenhouse to aid the growth of food plants.

"Household garbage," Dr. Kassander says, "when burned, produces heat at the rate of about 4,500 BTUs per pound. This means common garbage is approximately one-third as good a fuel as the best quality soft coal."

The Japanese for some time have been condensing trash into building blocks used in construction. In the Tennessee Valley Authority common fly ash, collected mechanically from smoke stacks, replaced 20 percent of the cement and 10.5 percent of the sand necessary for the concrete use in Wilson Dam lock.

Finding practical ways of using pollutants is a more enlightened method of disposal than trying to find a place for them on or under the soil or in the world's waterways.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Although business is the immediate loser in what appears to be a growing incidence of theft, it hasn't always been the first to complain publicly. And for this, it has incurred considerable criticism.

Speaking recently to a House committee on the affairs of small business, a University of Michigan scientist, Albert J. Reiss Jr., estimated that pilferage cost American business $3 billion in 1967-1968.

At Kennedy Airport here, the Airport Security Council, made up of airlines and freight forwarders, complained this week that $100,000 in watches have been stolen this year. The year's total of all thefts at the airport might exceed $2 million. It did last year.

In Wall Street it appears that millions of dollars of securities have been stolen in the past year. But in one of the latest cases of fraud there, the company withheld information from the police.

Cargo thefts from trucks are reliably estimated by industry sources to total nearly $1 billion a year, but surprisingly little public concern is expressed about such tremendous losses.

Now that the size and impact of such losses are becoming better known, it isn't necessarily because business has changed its attitude and is publicizing the problem.

"It is amazing that law enforcement has been able to do what it has done, despite the lack of cooperation of business and labor," a Manhattan assistant district attorney told business executives recently.

Why the reticence? In Wall Street, at least, some brokers are said to feel that it is better to cover up rather than reveal securities thefts, the reasoning being that any loss might lessen the public's confidence.

In some industries, it has been hinted, it might be considered advisable to cooperate with criminal elements, the rewards being easy labor contracts, underworld loans and even stolen merchandise.

In many industries an attitude seems to prevail that crime is something bigger than the ability of any one company to contend with and therefore should be accepted as a cost of doing business.

This attitude results in business spending millions of dollars on security and in maintaining police forces. But much less is spent to get at the root of the problem—to prevent rather than protect.

Who pays the extra cost? In many instances the customer does—hundreds of millions of dollars a year in price increases and security costs, according to H. Bruce Palmer, head of the National Industrial Conference Board.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The one per cent jump in interest rates Monday is going to cost Ohio money.

State Auditor Roger Cloud said today it means Ohio will pay one-half per cent more interest on the sale of its improvement bonds. The state sold $75 million in improvement bonds several weeks ago at 5½ per cent.

"The (bond) market might very well go to six per cent if the primary rate goes to 8½ per cent," Cloud said. He expressed doubt the bond market would jump the full one per cent like interest rates on loan money.

Cloud said Ohio now needs $65 million in bond money to pay off outstanding contracts and due costs.

"We may have to defer some of our improvement projects by the Department of Natural Resources or the mental hygiene department or by some of the universities," he said. "It would be sort of a slow down during this period when interest rates are high."

Cloud said Ohio now needs $65 million in bond money to pay off outstanding contracts and due costs.

In 1859, a prospector laid claim to a silver deposit in Six Mile Canyon in Nevada. The claim turned out to be the Comstock Lode, which yielded ore worth more than $300 million.

In 1936, a new constitution was submitted to the people of Russia.

In 1943, President Franklin D. Roosevelt called on the Italian people to oust Benito Mussolini and halt warfare.

In 1963, Alabama Gov. George Wallace, confronted by the federalized National Guard, stepped aside and permitted two Negro students to register at the University of Alabama.

Ten years ago — The U.S. postmaster general barred from the mails the D. H. Lawrence novel, "Lady Chatterley's Lover."

Five years ago — The United States announced that it had permission from Laos to resume reconnaissance flights over that country.

One year ago — President Lyndon B. Johnson's appeal for tougher gun controls was rejected by the House Judiciary Committee.

State Senate Democratic leader Charles J. Carney of Youngstown threatened to seek an investigation of money policies of the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

He criticized Rhodes for not issuing voter-approved bonds for needed projects.

"In two months, Ohio has lost over $5 million in senseless interest costs," he said. "The people of Ohio will not stand still for this costly stupidity and neither will I."

"Unless the Rhodes administration soon starts to issue meaningful amounts of bonds as voted by the people of Ohio, I will ask for an investigation by the legislature of Gov. Rhodes' money policies."

"It's easy enough to respect my privacy if you only put your mind to it. How have you remembered?" "Velly simple," answered Chung Foo. "Before me come in, me look through keyhole. Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My six-months-old granddaughter has always had tears running down her face from the day she was born. Can anything be done about this condition? Is there any possibility that this will affect her vision?

Mrs. A. E. Y., Minnesota

Dear Mrs. Y.: In order to understand why tearing occurs, let me explain the mechanism by which tears are produced and the function they serve.

Tears are formed in the lacrimal glands, two small sacs located near the outer portion of the eye. The function of tears, of course, is to keep the entire surface of the eyeball moist and to act as a cleaning mechanism for small foreign bodies that constantly enter it. Tears are composed of very gentle minerals, suspended in solution, that are protective to the eyeball.

The tears run across the inside of the lower lid towards the nose. There, a tiny tube, or duct, picks up the tears and drains them into the nose. It is for this reason that an excess amount of tears, while crying, is always accompanied by nose-blowing.

The naso-lacrimal duct through which the tears flow, occasionally is blocked, narrowed or so curved that drainage is impaired and the overflow of tears runs onto the cheek. In a six-months-old child, the chances are great that there may be some blockage that almost always can be cured. This tear duct can be probed with very tiny metal rods and almost always the obstruction can be alleviated.

There is hardly any possibility that her vision will in any way be affected. May I make the suggestion that you do not "wait for this to go away by itself." Your doctor will undoubtedly direct you to an eye specialist who can easily do the necessary simple procedure.

I am contemplating a trip to Europe for the first time and would like to know the necessary shots that should be taken. I plan to be in Italy and Sicily.

Mr. R. J., Ohio

Dear Mr. J.: Revaccination for smallpox is required every three years for re-entry to the United States. This is a fixed rule by the U.S. Public Health Service and there is no way to depart from it. This affords safety to you and protects our populace from the possibility of infection.

For European travel, there is very little actual need for typhoid and paratyphoid vaccination. In France, Spain and Italy, especially in the large cities, the water supply is usually safe. It is suggested that bottled water be used in cities when there is the slightest chance of pollution of the water. There is a safety advantage to the three injections against typhoid and paratyphoid especially if it supplies a feeling of greater security.

The U.S. Public Health Service makes very specific suggestions for vaccination against typhus, yellow fever and cholera depending on the countries that are to be visited. Their advice should also be followed as to typhoid immunization even in relatively safe countries.

A submarine is being utilized this summer in a scientific effort to locate the legendary Loch Ness sea serpent. Sounds like this year's search is truly a monster hunt—in more ways than one!

A Montreal homeowner has carpeted the bottom of his swimming pool for "warmth." There's one rug that'll never need a vacuum cleaner to keep it dust free!

We also have just learned a southern dairy farmer has carpeted his barns. Now, that really floured us.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every man should try to have a good opinion of himself—but not so high a one that it startles his neighbors.

Inflated egos among individuals cause trouble at home, and among nations they cause wars abroad.

But it is so difficult today, beset as our life is with unsolved complexities, to keep our self-esteem that it would seem all but impossible for anyone to get delusions of superiority. There are too many possible comeuppances waiting to ambush our vanity.

Here, for example, are a few things that tend to keep our heads the same as our hatbands and teach us humility: The high cost of living.

Hooking what you think is the biggest trout in the pool and then pulling out a dripping, discarded boot.

Writing an essay in English for a sophomore daughter and being told by her later that it got a grade of "C."

Asking for a $10 merit raise and setting one for $2.50.

Falling asleep in church and having a fly but into your open mouth.

Setting out to paint the town red in middle age and finding by 11:30 p.m., that you've run out of paint.

Being told by a girl to open a bottle of pickles on a picnic and, after you've struggled yourself pink-faced, seeing her take it back and screw the cap off easily.

Boasting about the bargain secondhand car you got for $1,000 and then finding out it's the same car an acquaintance down the street sold to the dealer for $450.

The state you meet when, as a matter of principle, you go into court to sue anybody about anything.

Attempting to wallpaper a bathroom for the first time in order to save money.

Learning late in life that the studious snob you voted against as the one in your college class most likely to succeed has just donated $500,000 to the old school for a new gymnasium.

Showing up for a Red Cross blood donation and being refused on the grounds that what you need is a transfusion yourself.

Applying for a part in your community's amateur theatrical company and being assigned the role of an offstage voice.

Doing calisthenics with your wife and finding she can do 15 floor push-ups with ease, but you start grunting at four and have to quit at seven.

While brooding over the fact your hair is getting thinner and grayer, you discover the hair in your ears is getting bushier and whiter.

Yes, it's an incontestable truth about life: no matter how high you're flying at the moment, something else will always come along and cut you down to proper size.

Taylor Was Different

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some romantic figures of Hollywood's Golden Era wore their stardom like a talisman. Robert Taylor was never comfortable with his.

Tyrone Power played the dashing figure both on and off the screen. Errol Flynn's rakish personality was indistinguishable from his film rolls. Even Clark Gable, although he snorted at being termed the King, maintained an almost regal bearing in public.

Bob Taylor was different. Perhaps the most handsome of all leading men in the 1930s and 1940s, he seemed ill at ease in his role as movie star. He never acquired that veneer of sophistication of other small-town boys who achieved stardom.

Taylor is being buried today at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. He died Sunday at 57; like Dick Powell, Walt Disney and some other Hollywood cigarette smokers, he was a victim of lung cancer.

He was almost a star in spite of himself. He never pounded on the studio gates; his discovery came by accident in a college play. Almost immediately he was thrust into co-starring roles with MGM's most glamorous stars—Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer.

Returning to MGM to play an aging firefighter three years ago, he recalled his beginning years at the studio.

"I was skinny as a rail back in my early days here," he remarked. "I think I weighed 150 pounds when I made 'Camille.' I had to sweep Garbo into my arms and carry her and I almost didn't make it. Those petticoats she was wearing must have weighed 50 pounds."

During those early years, Taylor was embarrassed by frequent references to his male beauty.

"The publicity wasn't good," he remarked later. "But the pretty-boy tag wore off in the natural course of events, wear and tear, wind and rain. The change came about normally; the studio realized in 1938 or 1939 that something had to be done."

The actor was given a buildup as an outdoors man, which he enjoyed anyway. He was also cast in tough roles as the desperado in "Billy the Kid," as a prizefighter in "The Crowd Roars," and as a gangster in "Johnny Eager."

Just before the war, he did the picture he considered his best, "Waterloo Bridge" with Vivian Leigh. He once commented: "It's my favorite because it came at a time when I didn't think I was a good actor. When I saw the picture, I was surprised at how good I was."

Taylor became an even better actor after his wartime service in naval air. He was never honored by the Motion Picture Academy but he proved a stalwart performer in spectacles like "Quo Vadis," "Ivanhoe," and "Knights of the Round Table." Like many aging idols, he spent much of his latter career in Westerns, which he enjoyed.

Until cancer struck him, he remained active in his profession. Major roles no longer came his way. But he took what came along and played his parts with dignity. He remained unchanged—reticent in interviews, deprecating his role as movie star, yet thoroughly professional in his work.

State Finances Local Project

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Treasurer John D. Herbert said Tuesday Ohio is under writing a $3.5 million water project for a portion of Tate and Monroe Townships in Clermont County.

He took part today in formal closing of the project by presenting the Farmers Home Administration with a check for the money at ceremonies held at the D-X Ranch in Clermont County.

Herbert said this marks the first time in Ohio's history that state funds have been invested by completely underwriting a local water project. He noted the state would earn 7.5 per cent interest on its investment over the first two years, while providing "direct benefits to its citizens."

Jet-Age Outdoor Chefs Are Cooking With Gas

By ALICE DENHOFF

Isn't it wonderful, this cooking and eating out of doors, under nature's blue canopy? If a shower does come, it's so easy to move in from terrace, yard or patio. As the outdoor cooking and dining habit grows, gear for food preparation has evolved from grills and hibachis with briquettes or charcoal to sophisticated equipment such as outdoor gas grills. Made with weather-resistant finishes, gas grills can be post-mounted and permanently piped for natural gas; or portable units can be attached to a natural gas line by flexible hose and quick-connect coupling, or they can be used with liquefied petroleum cartridges.

Neighbor's Policy
Now that we're really cooking in chef style outdoors, let's see what's cooking on my neighbor's grill. This has a smoke box to give foods that smoky flavor that she dotes on. It also has a rotisserie. On it, I've been doing chicken and taking bows for a concoction named:

CHICKEN A LA LOCKE
1 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
3 broilers (2 pounds each) cut in halves
2 1/2 cup water
1/2 cup oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon each, chopped chives, basil and rosemary
Combine first 5 ingredients. Wash and dry chicken; rub with honey mixture. Mix together and heat remaining ingredients. Place chicken on an oiled grid, skin side up or in an oiled rotating basket. Grill, using low to medium flame, basting frequently with the heated sauce. When done, the drumstick meat will be tender as it is pulled from the joint. Total cooking time may vary from 40 minutes to 1 hour, 30 minutes.

Recipe makes 5 servings.
Corn and buttered tomatoes are grand escorts for the chicken — the corn cooked in the husks. To do this, first turn back the inner husks. Then turn back the inner husks, remove the silk, then rinse well in cold water. Replace the husks over the ears; twist the ends or tie with fine wire. Roast in the husks or wrap in foil. Place on the coals and turn every 5 minutes for about 20 minutes with medium flame. Or roast on grill grid over high flame, turning frequently for about 20 minutes.

Now for some marinade ideas.

MARYLAND BARBECUE SAUCE
1 cup tomato catsup
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
4 thin lemon slices
Combine all ingredients and simmer for 10 minutes. Fine on fish, meat, chicken.

BEEF MARINADE
1 cup olive oil
1/2 cup red wine
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
4 green onions with tops, finely chopped
12 crushed peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon each oregano and basil
Blend together all ingredients and use to marinate beef 4 hours or more.

LAMB MARINADE
2-3 cup olive oil
1-3 cup lemon juice
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
1/4 cup minced parsley
Salt and pepper
Blend together and marinate lamb 3 hours or more. Makes 1 cup.

SEAFOOD MARINADE
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 teaspoon dry chervil
1 teaspoon paprika
Salt to taste
Blend together and marinate scallops, shrimp or lobster tails for 2 hours.
Recipe yields enough marinade for 2 pounds of seafood.

Says SDS Plan Doomed To Fail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dr. David A. Ambler, assistant vice president for student affairs at Kent State University, says a plan by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to "educate the working class" in American industry this summer will fail.

He made the prediction Tuesday in addressing alumni here. Ambler said the SDS plan will fail because the economic climate is not right for a disruption.

"If some of them cut their hair, they may try to identify with the working class, but I doubt this," he added.

U.S. Prosecutors Short - Handed

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A widespread shortage of federal prosecutors is confronting the Nixon administration as it maps its war on organized crime.

Of the 799 assistant U.S. attorney positions throughout the country, a Justice Department spokesman said nearly 25 percent are vacant. He blamed it on the budget squeeze.

An Associated Press survey of U.S. attorneys' offices in major cities disclosed that, in some instances, criminal cases have not been pursued because of the manpower shortage.

"Until you provide adequate manpower, law enforcement is going to be a poor cousin," said Los Angeles' U.S. Atty. William M. Byrne, who currently is seven short of his authorized 51 assistants.

Byrne added his office has had difficulty lining up prosecutors "to handle grand jury investigations and to try the cases that are required to be tried."

"We haven't dropped any," he said, "but we've been restricted in those we have selected to prosecute."

His comments were echoed by U.S. attorneys in other cities.

"We just don't have enough people in here to do the work," said Eugene Cushing, U.S. attorney in Seattle. A former state Superior Court judge, Cushing said his office is up to strength with 10 assistants but he needs at least four more.

More cases would be tried—or won when they are tried—if he had the staff to gather evidence necessary for convictions, Cushing said.

Like most of the current U.S. attorneys, Cushing came in during the previous Democratic administration and expects "there'll be a replacement in here one of these days."

An area with a critical shortage is the Eastern District of New York (Brooklyn) where the staff is down to 20 assistants out of an authorized complement of 32.

U.S. Atty. Vincent T. McCarthy said, "We have met all civil and criminal calendars," and said no cases had been dropped because of lack of manpower.

However, federal court observers said few cases are being presented to grand juries in McCarthy's district because of the personnel shortage.

In Detroit, the U.S. attorney's office is operating with six assistants—less than half its authorized strength. His staff has met all trial dates, U.S. Atty. Robert H. Grace said, although "we've got more judges than members of the U.S. attorney's office."

The shortage means long hours for the prosecutors.

"Everybody talks about backlogs but no one mentions we've been working day and night," said U.S. Atty. Bernard J. Stupinski, whose Cleveland office has three assistants and two men on loan from Washington to do the work normally handled by 10 assistants.

U.S. Atty. Thomas Foran, whose Chicago office is short six men, said, "The average work week of assistants was 66 hours last week. Last month it averaged 60 hours a week."

Officials blame the manpower shortage on the budget pinch rather than the transition from a Democratic to a Republican administration in Washington.

Congress imposed a $6-billion spending cut and a hiring freeze on the executive department last year when it granted President Lyndon B. Johnson's request for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

In addition to the 181 vacancies in the ranks of assistants, there are 118 vacancies in secretarial and clerical posts. Out of the total of 299 vacancies, the hiring freeze permits the filing of 50 slots.

New California Capitol Plan Kept A Deep, Dark Secret

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A group of legislators has been meeting weekly in secret to plan what could be one of the most lavish state capitals' a soaring, $65-million twin-tower structure.

A drawing shows it to be an edifice to be proud of. So why the secrecy?

Its supporters, who are shy about discussing it publicly, say privately they fear that disclosure before plans are completed will stir taxpayer resentment over cost.

The 24-story building would double the office space for each state senator and assemblyman, with a private bathroom (extra cost $3,000) for each.

To find out how other states and nations are building their new capitols, five legislators have traveled at state expense to such cities as Brasilia, Brazil; Honolulu, Lima, Peru; Lansing, Mich.; Albany, N.Y.; and Santa Fe, N.M.

On one trip, the travelers spent New Year's Eve in Hawaii.

The secret meetings have been held regularly by the Joint Committee on Legislative Space Needs.

No one has indicated when the taxpayers will be officially apprised of the committee's plans, but the lawmakers are expected to offer a bill next year to authorize a replacement for the columned and domed Capitol that has housed the California Legislature since 1849.

A question so far not answered is the attitude of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan toward the plans. An outspoken advocate of government economy he has declined comment on the subject. Reagan has sharply cut his administration's office space and canceled construction of one $10-million building.

Proponents of the plan say the present Capitol is cramped and antiquated and modern new quarters are needed. Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves of La Mirada says the 60 assemblymen and 40 senators need the space for staff members who he says have made the California Legislature the nation's best.

Says SDS Plan Doomed To Fail
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Dr. David A. Ambler, assistant vice president for student affairs at Kent State University, says a plan by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to "educate the working class" in American industry this summer will fail.

He made the prediction Tuesday in addressing alumni here. Ambler said the SDS plan will fail because the economic climate is not right for a disruption.

"If some of them cut their hair, they may try to identify with the working class, but I doubt this," he added.

Jet-Age Outdoor Chefs Are Cooking With Gas

By ALICE DENHOFF

Isn't it wonderful, this cooking and eating out of doors, under nature's blue canopy? If a shower does come, it's so easy to move in from terrace, yard or patio. As the outdoor cooking and dining habit grows, gear for food preparation has evolved from grills and hibachis with briquettes or charcoal to sophisticated equipment such as outdoor gas grills. Made with weather-resistant finishes, gas grills can be post-mounted and permanently piped for natural gas; or portable units can be attached to a natural gas line by flexible hose and quick-connect coupling, or they can be used with liquefied petroleum cartridges.

Neighbor's Policy

Now that we're really cooking in chef style outdoors, let's see what's cooking on my neighbor's grill. This has a smoke box to give foods that smoky flavor that she dotes on. It also has a rotisserie. On it, I've been doing chicken and taking bows for a concoction named:

CHICKEN A LA LOCKE
1 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
3 broilers (2 pounds each) cut in halves
2 1/2 cup water
1/2 cup oil
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon each, chopped chives, basil and rosemary
Combine first 5 ingredients. Wash and dry chicken; rub with honey mixture. Mix together and heat remaining ingredients. Place chicken on an oiled grid, skin side up or in an oiled rotating basket. Grill, using low to medium flame, basting frequently with the heated sauce. When done, the drumstick meat will be tender as it is pulled from the joint. Total cooking time may vary from 40 minutes to 1 hour, 30 minutes.

Recipe makes 6 servings.

Corn and buttered tomatoes are grand escorts for the chicken — the corn cooked in the husks. To do this, first turn back the inner husks. Then then back the inner husks. remove the silk, then rinse well in cold water. Replace the husks over the ears; twist the ends or tie with fine wire. Roast in the husks or wrap in foil. Place on the coals and turn every 5 minutes for about 20 minutes with medium flame. Or roast on grill grid over high flame, turning frequently for about 20 minutes.

Now for some marinade ideas.

MARYLAND BARBECUE SAUCE
1 cup tomato catsup
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
4 thin lemon slices
Combine all ingredients and simmer for 10 minutes. Fine on fish, meat, chicken.

BEEF MARINADE
1 cup olive oil
1/2 cup red wine
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
4 green onions with tops, finely chopped
12 crushed peppercorns
1 bay leaf
1/2 teaspoon each oregano and basil
1/2 teaspoon salt
Blend together all ingredients and use to marinate beef 4 hours or more.

LAMB MARINADE
2 1/2 cup olive oil
1 1/2 cup lemon juice
2 garlic cloves, finely chopped
1/2 cup minced parsley
Salt and pepper
Blend together and marinate lamb 3 hours or more. Makes 1 cup.

SEAFOOD MARINADE
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 teaspoon dry chervil
1 teaspoon paprika
Salt to taste
Blend together and marinate scallops, shrimp or lobster tails for 2 hours.
Recipe yields enough marinade for 2 pounds of seafood.

U.S. Prosecutors Short - Handed

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A widespread shortage of federal prosecutors is confronting the Nixon administration as it maps its war on organized crime.

Of the 799 assistant U.S. attorney positions throughout the country, a Justice Department spokesman said nearly 25 per cent are vacant. He blamed it on the budget squeeze.

An Associated Press survey of U.S. attorneys' offices in major cities disclosed that, in some instances, criminal cases have not been pursued because of the manpower shortage.

"Until you provide adequate manpower, law enforcement is going to be a poor cousin," said Los Angeles' U.S. Attorney M. Byrne, who currently is seven short of his authorized 51 assistants.

Byrne added his office has had difficulty lining up prosecutors "to handle grand jury investigations and to try the cases that are required to be tried."

"We haven't dropped any," he said, "but we've been restricted in those we have selected to prosecute."

His comments were echoed by U.S. attorneys in other cities.

"We just don't have enough people in here to do the work," said Eugene Cushing, U.S. attorney in Seattle. A former state Superior Court judge, Cushing said his office is up to strength with 10 assistants but he needs at least four more.

More cases would be tried—won when they are tried—if he had the staff to gather evidence necessary for convictions, Cushing said.

Like most of the current U.S. attorneys, Cushing came in during the previous Democratic administration and expects "there'll be a replacement in here one of these days."

An area with a critical shortage is the Eastern District of New York (Brooklyn) where the staff is down to 20 assistants out of an authorized complement of 32.

U.S. Attorney Vincent T. McCarthy said, "We have met all civil and criminal calendars," and said no cases had been dropped because of lack of manpower.

However, federal court observers said few cases are being presented to grand juries in McCarthy's district because of the personnel shortage.

In Detroit, the U.S. attorney's office is operating with six assistants—less than half its authorized strength. His staff has met all trial dates, U.S. Attorney Robert H. Grace said, although "we've got more judges than members of the U.S. attorney's office."

The shortage means long hours for the prosecutors. "Everybody talks about backlogs but no one mentions we've been working day and night," said U.S. Attorney Bernard J. Stupinski, whose Cleveland office has three assistants and two men on loan from Washington to do the work normally handled by 10 assistants.

U.S. Attorney Thomas Foran, whose Chicago office is short six men, said, "The average work week of assistants was 68 hours last week. Last month it averaged 60 hours a week."

Officials blame the manpower shortage on the budget pinch rather than the transition from a Democratic to a Republican administration in Washington.

Congress imposed a $6-billion spending cut and a hiring freeze on the executive department last year when it granted President Lyndon B. Johnson's request for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

In addition to the 181 vacancies in the ranks of assistants, there are 118 vacancies in secretarial and clerical posts. Out of the total of 299 vacancies, the hiring freeze permits the filling of 50 slots.

New California Capitol Plan Kept A Deep, Dark Secret

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)

— A group of legislators has been meeting weekly in secret to plan what could be one of the most lavish state capitol structures.

A drawing shows it to be an edifice to be proud of. So why the secrecy?

Its supporters, who are shy about discussing it publicly, say privately they fear that disclosure before plans are completed will stir taxpayer resentment over cost.

The 24-story building would double the office space for each state senator and assemblyman, with a private bathroom (extra cost $3,000) for each.

To find out how other states and nations are building their new capitol, five legislators have traveled at state expense to such cities as Brasilia, Brazil; Honolulu; Lima, Peru; Lansing, Mich.; Albany, N.Y.; and Santa Fe, N.M.

On one trip, the travelers spent New Year's Eve in Hawaii.

Proponents of the plan say the present Capitol is cramped and antiquated and modern new quarters are needed. Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves of La Mirada says the 60 assemblymen and 40 senators need the space for staff members who he says have made the California Legislature the nation's best.

The secret meetings have been held regularly by the Joint Committee on Legislative Space Needs.

No one has indicated when the taxpayers will be officially appraised of the committee's plans, but the lawmakers are expected to offer a bill next year to authorize a replacement for the columned and domed Capitol that has housed the California Legislature since 1869.

A question so far not answered is the attitude of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan toward the plans. An outspoken advocate of government economy he has declined comment on the subject. Reagan has sharply cut his administration's office space and canceled construction of one $10-million building.

Judicial Meet Cracks Down On Judges' Work On Side

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Judicial Conference has cracked down on the side jobs of federal judges—but not Supreme Court justices—by bidding them to accept payment for off-bench activities. However, the conference decided Tuesday, the judges can continue to accept expense money. And, if they get a green light from their fellow judges, they can take pay for services "in the public interest." Chief Justice Earl Warren called the conference together following the resignation of Abe Fortas from the Supreme Court because of his relations with the Wolfson Family Foundation.

The conference was commonly expected to rein in the justices as well as the other federal judges. But officials told reporters after the 25-judge group broke up that it had no authority over justices.

As the policymaking conference met, with Warren presiding, it was learned Justice William J. Brennan Jr. had quit his teaching post at a summer seminar for judges.

Brennan resigned from the faculty of the Appellate Judges' Seminar, held annually at New York University since 1956, 10 days to two weeks ago, the director, Prof. Robert Leflar, told a reporter.

The ban on compensation was one of four resolutions adopted by "an overwhelming majority" in a 4½-hour session of the conference. The others:

1. Require all federal judges—but, again, not Supreme Court justices—to file annual statements with the conference on their income, assets and liabilities.

2. Direct an administration committee to report in September on possible standards of conduct for federal judges. There are none now.

3. Direct the committee to draft possible legislation to help the conference enforce its rules. The committee chairman, Judge Robert A. Ainsworth Jr., of the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans, said the conference's enforcement power was one of "moral suasion." The legislation presumably would include some forceful sanctions.

Wholesale Price Index Zooms Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big jump in food prices pushed the government's wholesale price index up eight-tenths of one per cent in May, the Labor Department reported Tuesday.

Farm product prices rose 4.6 per cent and processed foods and feeds were up 1.8 per cent in May, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"This is an unusually sharp increase," said a spokesman for the bureau.

The other major sector of the wholesale index—industrial raw materials—rose one-tenth of one per cent.

The over-all rise brought the wholesale index to 112.3. This means that it cost $112.30 last month to buy what would have been $100 worth of wholesale goods during the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Major price increases included 18.6 per cent for fruits and vegetables, 8.1 per cent for livestock, 6.1 per cent for processed meats, poultry and fish, and 2.1 per cent for sugar.

The spokesman said that such food items as fruits and vegetables are generally subject to sharp ups and downs due to fluctuations in weather and market conditions, but added that the May increases were substantially larger than usual.

Increases in wholesale prices, especially food, frequently show up later in the bureau's consumer price index of retail prices. The May increase pushed the wholesale price index to 4 per cent above those at a year earlier. Retail prices have been running more than 5 per cent above those a year ago.

So great is the difference between lighted and shadowed spots on the moon that an unprotected person would burn in the searing sunlight or freeze quickly in the shadow of a rock.

Kennedy Warns Inflation Could Become A Runaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury David M.

Kennedy indicates the sort of "credit crunch" that developed in 1966 can be avoided despite the present high inflation.

"We're in a credit stringency," Kennedy said at a news conference, "and the markets are not good but they are not in the state of disorder that they were in 1966."

Kennedy added, however, that the grip of inflation is such that it could develop into a runaway condition.

Meanwhile, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, urged President Nixon to withdraw government deposits from banks that raised their prime interest rate to an unprecedented 8½ per cent.

Kennedy and Federal Reserve

Board Chairman William McChesney Martin who also appeared at the news conference, placed top priority on extension of the income tax surcharge, currently scheduled to die June 30. Asked if the government might resort to wage and price control if inflation worsens, Kennedy answered: "There's a possibility of a lot of things."

The treasury secretary noted that wage-price controls are not a policy the government is contemplating and that he is personally against them. They would be turned to only as a last resort, he said.

"We cannot allow a runaway inflation to develop in this country," Kennedy said. "We could be very close to that now."

Kennedy said he neither endorsed nor condemned Monday's increase in the prime rate—the interest rate major banks charge their best credit risks—from 7½ per cent to 8½ per cent.

The higher rates will to some extent serve to ration credit, a desirable objective, but rising interest rates cause "distortion" in the economy," Kennedy said.

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS sent two of its top reporters to Africa to search the background and events of the war between Nigeria and Biafra. The useful and interesting "60 Minutes" Tuesday night told of their findings.

Harry Reasoner explained the Biafran situation, partly on the scene. Mike Wallace went to Nigeria. In addition to an unbiased report, the program's long segment was commendably unemotional.

It comprised a cram course on the three-year-old conflict in which an estimated million persons have lost their lives. Reasoner and Wallace sketched—quickly, clearly and effectively—the causes of the trouble. In 1967, the Ibo tribe seceded from young Nigeria and ever since has been fighting to remain independent.

The brutal facts of starvation in Biafra were not glossed over, but at the program's end, the viewer saw Nigeria's determination to pull Biafra back into its national fold and was aware of another important element in the conflict: Nigeria's and Biafra's underground mineral wealth, notably oil. The former, Wallace said, received $300,000 last year in oil royalties.

The statistics, the grim facts of life, were all included in the lively, informative report. There were descriptions of Biafra's rag-tag army and it showed recruits, fresh from the bush, learning to march to the strains of "Margie."

On the Nigerian side, Wallace reported that its army of 6,000 crack, British-trained troops has expanded to 85,000—cared for by 11 doctors; that Britain and the Soviet Union are supplying it with fire power; that the United States is avoiding involvement.

The feature was followed by a short and charming segment showing a group of school children in a New York slum putting on a play, the musical "Fiddler on the Roof." A memorable bit was a 13-year-old Negro boy made up with beard and steel-rimmed spectacles to look like a Jewish elder living in a foreign ghetto.

Finally there was a report on the research and experimentation which has led to the development of a vaccine expected to be as effective a weapon against German measles, cripples of unborn children, as are inoculations against polio.

It was a rewarding, well-organized hour.

Minneapolis Detective New Mayor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A politically independent police detective who pinned his hopes of becoming mayor on a tough law-and-order stand has won an easy victory over a Republican opponent endorsed by President Nixon.

Charles Stenvig, who defeated City Councilman Dan Cohen 74,748 to 46,739 as 55 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out, promised in his victory speech Tuesday that he would not let the voters down.

"My chief adviser is going to be God," Stenvig said, "and don't you forget it!"

Stenvig 41, will be sworn in July 7 as the successor to Arthur Naftalin, a Democrat who is stepping down to return to teaching at the University of Minnesota after four terms in the mayor's office.

Cohen, 33, was endorsed not only by the President but by Gov. Harold LeVander and had counted on a heavy voter turnout to overcome Stenvig's lead in the April 29 primary.

Stenvig led a field of 10 candidates in the primary and ran 8,000 votes ahead of Cohen.

The detective's campaign was centered on the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

Teachers Agree To Arbitration

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Education Association and the city school board agreed Tuesday to submit their contract dispute to binding arbitration.

It is the first time in Ohio history that such action has been taken in connection with public school teacher contract negotiations.

Points of disagreement are salaries, use of special teachers, use of teachers aides and length of the contract.

The brutal facts of starvation in Biafra were not glossed over, but at the program's end, the viewer saw Nigeria's determination to pull Biafra back into its national fold and was aware of another important element in the conflict: Nigeria's and Biafra's underground mineral wealth, notably oil. The former, Wallace said, received $300,000 last year in oil royalties. The statistics, the grim facts of life, were all included in the lively, informative report. There were descriptions of Biafra's rag-tag army and it showed recruits, fresh from the bush, learning to march to the strains of "Margie."

On the Nigerian side, Wallace reported that its army of 6,000 crack, British-trained troops has expanded to 85,000—cared for by 11 doctors; that Britain and the Soviet Union are supplying it with fire power; that the United States is avoiding involvement.

The feature was followed by a short and charming segment showing a group of school children in a New York slum putting on a play, the musical "Fiddler on the Roof." A memorable bit was a 13-year-old Negro boy made up with beard and steel-rimmed spectacles to look like a Jewish elder living in a foreign ghetto.

Finally there was a report on the research and experimentation which has led to the development of a vaccine expected to be as effective a weapon against German measles, crippling of unborn children, as are inoculations against polio.

It was a rewarding, well-organized hour.

Minneapolis Detective New Mayor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A politically independent police detective who pinned his hopes of becoming mayor on a tough law-and-order stand has won an easy victory over a Republican opponent endorsed by President Nixon.

Charles Stenvig, who defeated City Councilman Dan Cohen 74,748 to 46,739 as 55 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out, promised in his victory speech Tuesday that he would not let the voters down.

"My chief adviser is going to be God," Stenvig said, "and don't you forget it!"

Stenvig 41, will be sworn in July 7 as the successor to Arthur Naftalin, a Democrat who is stepping down to return to teaching at the University of Minnesota after four terms in the mayor's office.

Cohen, 33, was endorsed not only by the President but by Gov. Harold LeVander and had counted on a heavy voter turnout to overcome Stenvig's lead in the April 29 primary.

Stenvig led a field of 10 candidates in the primary and ran 8,000 votes ahead of Cohen.

The detective's campaign was centered on the single theme that law and order means "strong, fair, impartial law enforcement toward everyone."

Kingston Annexes Three Properties

The Village of Kingston extended its southern boundaries Monday by annexing three lots at the south side of town. A petition for annexation to the village by property owners was approved by Ross County Commissioners.

The involved land is that of Henry and Margaret Sharp, Eleanor Ross and James R. and Clarabelle Stewart.

Wholesale Price Index Zooms Upward

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big jump in food prices pushed the government's wholesale price index up eight-tenths of one per cent in May, the Labor Department reported Tuesday.

Farm product prices rose 4.6 per cent and processed foods and feeds were up 1.8 per cent in May, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"This is an unusually sharp increase," said a spokesman for the Bureau.

The other major sector of the wholesale index—industrial raw materials—rose one-tenth of one per cent.

The over-all rise brought the wholesale index to 112.3. This means that it cost $112.30 last month to buy what would have been $100 worth of wholesale goods during the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Major price increases included 18.6 per cent for fruits and vegetables, 8.1 per cent for livestock, 6.1 per cent for processed meats, poultry and fish, and 2.1 per cent for sugar.

The spokesman said that such food items as fruits and vegetables are generally subject to sharp ups and downs due to fluctuations in weather and market conditions, but added that the May increases were substantially larger than usual.

Increases in wholesale prices, especially food, frequently show up later in the bureau's consumer price index of retail prices.

The May increase pushed the wholesale price index to 4 per cent above those at a year earlier. Retail prices have been running more than 5 per cent above those a year ago.

So great is the difference between lighted and shadowed spots on the moon that an unprotected person would burn in the searing sunlight or freeze quickly in the shadow of a rock.

Kennedy Warns Inflation Could Become A Runaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury David M.

Teachers Agree To Arbitration

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Education Association and the city school board agreed Tuesday to submit their contract dispute to binding arbitration.

It is the first time in Ohio history that such action has been taken in connection with public school teacher contract negotiations.

Points of disagreement are salaries, use of special teachers, use of teachers aides and length of the contract.

Kennedy indicates the sort of "credit crunch" that developed in 1966 can be avoided despite the present high inflation.

"We're in a credit stringency," Kennedy said at a news conference, "and the markets are not good but they are not in the state of disorder that they were in 1966."

Kennedy added, however, that the grip of inflation is such that it could develop into a runaway condition.

Meanwhile, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, urged President Nixon to withdraw government deposits from banks that raised their prime interest rate to an unprecedented 8½ per cent.

Kennedy and Federal Reserve

Board Chairman William McChesney Martin who also appeared at the news conference, placed top priority on extension of the income tax surcharge, currently scheduled to die June 20. Asked if the government might resort to wage and price control if inflation worsens, Kennedy answered: "There's a possibility of a lot of things."

The treasury secretary noted that wage-price controls are not a policy the government is contemplating and that he is personally against them. They would be turned to only as a last resort, he said.

"We cannot allow a runaway inflation to develop in this country," Kennedy said. "We could be very close to that now."

Kennedy said he neither endorsed nor condemned Monday's increase in the prime rate—the interest rate major banks charge their best credit risks—from 7½ per cent to 8½ per cent.

The higher rates will to some extent serve to ration credit, a desirable objective, but rising interest rates cause "distortion" in the economy," Kennedy said.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

The Counselor Needs The Help

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were not getting along at all well together, so we went to a marriage counselor. He said we ought to straighten OURSELVES out, and suggested we go to a psychiatrist.

Well, the psychiatrist listened to us, and said he didn't think we needed psychiatry. We needed to work out our marital problems, so we went back to this marriage counselor.

He talked to us a while and then said we just weren't right for each other, and we never should have gotten married in the first place. (Wasn't that helpful?) We've been married for nine years, have three children and think our marriage is worth saving. What do you suggest?

PILLAR TO POST
DEAR PILLAR: I don't know what kind of "marriage counselor" you went to, but he needs to straighten HIMSELF out. Ask the psychiatrist who told you to see a marriage counselor to recommend one.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about people who keep TOUCHING you when they talk to you? This irritates me no end. Even tho I may like that person very much, I feel so resentful when they poke, nudge, and hit me to emphasize some point in their conversation. (Oddly enough, more women are guilty of this than men.)

I realize that the toucher probably doesn't even realize she is doing it at the time, but this is of little comfort to me. Is there some diplomatic way to put a stop to it, or must I give up my friendship with such a person?

POKED IN MANHATTAN
DEAR POKED: There is NO way to defend yourself against the annoyance of compulsive touchers, pokers, or nudgers. Either keep out of their reach or stay out of their company altogether.

DEAR ABBY: If they held a world wide contest to find the Champion Sinner of all time, I could enter my husband and he would win hands down.

Name the commandment and he's broken it. He can look you in the eye and lie with both hands on the Bible!

Why, if that man told me the house was on fire I wouldn't move a muscle until I saw the flame.

Now here is the part you won't believe. Where do you think this sinner spends most of his time? In Church!

How long is it supposed to take for the preacher's message to soak in?

"SAVED" IN NASHVILLE
DEAR "SAVED": NO one knows. But can't complain too much about a man who spends most of his time in a house of worship. A church is a hospital for sinners—not a museum for saints.

DEAR ABBY: When my son was married about six months ago, I gave him my original wedding band to place on his bride's finger. (I have another one.)

The marriage lasted only a few months, a clean break has been made, and my son and the girl are not even on speaking terms. Since my son thought this was going to be a lasting marriage, the shock of its failure has caused him great emotional stress.

I would like to have my Wedding ring back, but do not want to ask my son to get it back for me.

Should I ask the girl myself? Or should I ask her mother? The ring can't possibly mean anything to the girl and it means a great deal to me.

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: Ask the girl for the ring. You've nothing to lose.

Pope Talks To Labor Group During Historic Geneva Visit

GENEVA (AP) — Pope Paul VI paid an historic visit to this traditional center of Protestantism Tuesday and appealed for universal economic justice and the brotherhood of all mankind. The Pope's 12-hour visit had two purposes: to underline the Roman Catholic Church's concern for the working man by a speech to the International Labor Organization, and to dramatize the Church's concern for the cause of Christian unity by a visit to the headquarters of the World Council of Churches, the world's leading collection of Protestant churches.

Speaking to the ILO's 50th anniversary meeting, the Pope besought the 1,700 delegates from 121 nations to "hear this cry of sorrow which still rises up from suffering humanity." He pleaded for the protection of man "stunned by the growing contrast between the prodigious increase of the goods at his disposal, and their distribution, so easily made unjustly, between man and between peoples."

He pleaded, too, for the protection of man's spiritual and physical happiness in a world bursting with scientific advancement and material plenty, but still plagued with hunger, injustice, inequality and wars.

"Who can describe the sometimes terrible drama of the modern laborer," the Pope asked, "torn between his double destiny as a grandiose accomplice, too often the prey of the intolerable sufferings of a miserable proletarian condition, in which the lack of food is allied with social degradation to create a state of real insecurity, both personal and family?"

Colonel Administers Oath To His Son

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Col. Joseph Quashnock, commander of the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine, celebrated his 32nd year of service by administering the oath commissioning his son, James, as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

This also marked the second anniversary of the commissioning of 1st Lt. Sue Quashnock, the colonel's daughter, who is a dietitian at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital here.

"SAVED" IN NASHVILLE
DEAR "SAVED": NO one knows. But can't complain too much about a man who spends most of his time in a house of worship. A church is a hospital for sinners—not a museum for saints.

DEAR ABBY: When my son was married about six months ago, I gave him my original wedding band to place on his bride's finger. (I have another one.)

The marriage lasted only a few months, a clean break has been made, and my son and the girl are not even on speaking terms. Since my son thought this was going to be a lasting marriage, the shock of its failure has caused him great emotional stress.

I would like to have my wedding ring back, but do not want to ask my son to get it back for me.

Should I ask the girl myself? Or should I ask her mother? The ring can't possibly mean

Pope Talks To Labor Group During Historic Geneva Visit

GENEVA (AP) — Pope Paul VI paid an historic visit to this traditional center of Protestantism Tuesday and appealed for universal economic justice and the brotherhood of all mankind. The Pope's 12-hour visit had two purposes: to underline the Roman Catholic Church's concern for the working man by a speech to the International Labor Organization, and to dramatize the Church's concern for the cause of Christian unity by a visit to the headquarters of the World Council of Churches, the world's leading collection of Protestant churches.

Speaking to the ILO's 50th anniversary meeting, the Pope besought the 1,700 delegates from 121 nations to "hear this cry of sorrow which still rises up from suffering humanity." He pleaded for the protection of man "stunned by the growing contrast between the prodigious increase of the goods at his disposal, and their distribution, so easily made unjustly, between man and between peoples." He pleaded, too, for the protection of man's spiritual and physical happiness in a world bursting with scientific advancement and material plenty, but still plagued with hunger, injustice, inequality and wars.

"Who can describe the sometimes terrible drama of the modern laborer," the Pope asked, "torn between his double destiny as a grandiose accomplice, too often the prey of the intolerable sufferings of a miserable proletarian condition, in which the lack of food is allied with social degradation to create a state of real insecurity, both personal and family?" "You have understood this. It

Man Starts Fight Aboard U.S. Jetliner

LONDON (AP) — Passengers on a jetliner from Boston reported a man started a fight while the plane was over the Atlantic Tuesday and they feared he would endanger them all by trying to open a door and jump out.

But crewmen and a psychologist aboard the plane calmed him down and the plane landed in London without serious incident.

After the Trans World Airlines jet landed, a TWA spokesman said the man never got near any of the aircraft doors and there was no danger that he could have jumped out.

The man, about 30 and believed to be a Greek, spoke no English, the passengers said. His name was not disclosed.

He tried to fight his way from the tourist section into the first class cabin about an hour after take off. Two crewmen helped by passengers managed to get him back to a rear seat and strap him in. The psychologist calmed him by using sign language.

Television Emcee 'Sells' Children On Show

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy is 6 months old, chubby, lively. His big bright blue eyes look normal. But he's blind.

"Gee," said the television pitchman as the camera zeroed in for a close-up on Jimmy, "I hope that somewhere in our audience today we'll find a mommy and daddy for him."

By next morning there were six applicants for Jimmy, one of 110 youngsters TV emcee Ben Hunter has placed for the Los Angeles County Department of Adoptions in 19 months. All are hard-to-place "special needs" children, as the department calls them—physically or emotionally handicapped or of minority-race or mixed parentage.

Is it "selling" children? "Yes," says Hunter, 49, a local radio-TV veteran with gray-flecked hair and a pleasing personality. "That's sort of a repugnant phrase, sounds like the old-time auction block. But that's what we're doing. We're selling kids."

The youngsters appear during a 15-minute interruption every Thursday in his daytime program of old movies on station KTTV. During other breaks commercials include those for carpeting, sewing machines and land and the services of a driving school.

Last Thursday, Jimmy and two other potential adoptees sat on the laps of attractive, mini-skirted case workers of the Department of Adoptions.

Nancy, 5 months, is a bright-eyed Negro.

"Negro children are particularly difficult to place," says Walter Heath, director of the Department of Adoptions.

Garth, 2½ months, who toyed with a large rattle and did considerable crying, is half Negro, half Caucasian.

Next day both were assigned to already approved families.

A fourth case worker held a photo of Dick, 7, a handsome white boy.

"Dick has no problems at all," Hunter told his audience, "except that he's 7. Everybody usually wants a little baby, a Caucasian female with big blue eyes and curly hair, who looks like Daddy. They may have to get in line and wait a long time."

Next morning there were 22 applications for Dick, one from the program's technical director, Robert Ellis, who has two older children adopted in infancy. Cameraman Clyde Bell has adopted a child from the show. The station is owned by Metromedia.

Older children are shown by photograph rather than in person. Director Heath says: "To be made the objects of pity, and then maybe not get a family is more than they could stand." Care is taken that they don't see the show.

Heath calls the program "wonderful, the greatest single thing" in getting special-needs children adopted. In addition to the 110 placed, between 40 and 60 other applications are being processed.

In the show's first year, the department received nearly 2,000 inquiries about adoption compared with 600 the previous year.

A station official says similar programs are on the air in New York City, Washington and Kansas City and one will begin soon in San Francisco.

CORE Says Negroes Seek $6 Billion

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of the Congress of Racial Equality asked the nation's banks Monday for $6 billion to bolster Negro financial institutions and said, "It would be nice if we get it before summer."

"We're not here to make threats," said Roy Innis, executive secretary of CORE in an unscheduled luncheon speech at a conference on urban problems sponsored by the American Bankers Association and the National Bankers Association, a Negro bankers group.

"We are here to give you a message to take back to the banking industry," he added. "We have two kinds of operations. We operate either in the streets or on the drawing board. We would prefer to operate on the drawing board."

Innis said the $6 billion represents money the white community owes blacks as a result of "compound interest over years of exploitation . . . of earnings that have never been paid."

Innis and 15 CORE members marched unannounced into the conference minutes after it opened.

About 100 black bankers met separately with the CORE group, then announced that Innis would address the luncheon.

Despite Westley's explanation that he was on police business and his handcuffed prisoner as evidence, the meter maid gave him the ticket.

Cancellation Of MOL Puts NASA In Space Driver Seat

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of the Air Force's $3 billion manned orbiting laboratory program leaves the nation's man-in-space field open for the civilian space agency's sole development.

Carl Heister Named Blue Cross Trustee

Carl Heister, second vice president and secretary of the Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Lancaster, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Blue Cross of Central Ohio, the Blue Cross Plan serving 29 counties in central and southern Ohio, including Pickaway. The Plan's headquarters are in Columbus.

The other newly elected member of the board is Dr. Tom F. Lewis, general surgeon in Columbus and a member of the Board of Trustees of Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Dr. Homer A. Anderson was elected as the new Chairman of the Board of Trustees. He succeeds retiring Chairman Don K. Weaver. Dr. Anderson has served as a member of the Blue Cross Board since 1964.

C. L. Dumaree, Assistant Superintendent - Administration Columbus Board of Education, succeeds Dr. Anderson as vice chairman. Dumaree became a member of the board in 1965.

Heister has long been active in church, civic and community affairs. He is a member of the Lancaster City Council and serves as chairman of the council's finance committee. He is also a member of the Lancaster Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and is secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

Heister is married to the former Phyllis Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clifton, 307 S. Court St.

In announcing Heister's election, Howard C. Franz, President of Blue Cross of Central Ohio, said: "We welcome Heister's membership on the Blue Cross Board. His experience will enable him to provide the counsel that is always welcomed by Blue Cross in helping it continue to grow as a vital force in meeting the health care needs of our community."

General Tele Expands Facility At Pleasantville

PLEASANTVILLE — A $19,900 expansion of this community's central office switching equipment started last February will be completed by July 1, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

The manager said the projects will provide for increasing telephone usage throughout the area.

Pleasantville exchange serves more than 500 telephones, having an average of 26.1 phones per square mile. The exchange covers almost 20 square miles in Fairfield and Perry counties.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration for some time has been pushing its own plan for an "orbiting workshop" where scientists would conduct experiments in astronomy, medicine and other fields.

NASA sources acknowledge there has been some conflict because both the Air Force's MOL and the civilian orbiting workshop would be embryonic space stations, and an increasingly economy-minded Congress might balk at a seeming duplication.

The Pentagon action Tuesday in scrubbing the military program to save money has resolved the issue of overlap.

But whatever else the planned civilian space station can do, it will not be able to spy on the Soviet Union and Red China, as the military MOL reportedly would have done.

The civilian station will be in the wrong kind of orbit—an equatorial orbit which a NASA spokesman said would not be over any great land mass.

The Air Force space laboratory was supposed to have been launched into a polar orbit carrying it over the Soviet Union and Red China.

Although Pentagon authorities refused to discuss whether the MOL had a spy mission, NASA sources said "The military project would have conducted some kind of surveillance," probably photographic.

Announcing the MOL cancellation, Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard indicated that unmanned satellites can do the job as well.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. George T. Harding III of suburban Worthington was elected president of the state Library Board Tuesday. George W. Coen, Lancaster attorney, was named vice president.

Lukens Studies Bill On Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation calling for the federal government to underwrite the entire cost of replacing a major bridge found unsafe may be drafted if the government doesn't increase its present 50 per cent maximum, Rep. Donald "Buz" Lukens said Tuesday.

The Ohio Republican said he has asked the Bureau of Public Roads to reconsider the present maximum as it applies to the C & O Bridge between Cincinnati and Covington, Ky.

The structure, spanning the Ohio River, was closed last November when Kentucky engineers found it unsafe. The new proposed bridge, to be located upstream, will cost an estimated 15 million.

Cancellation Of MOL Puts NASA In Space Driver Seat

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cancellation of the Air Force's $3 billion manned orbiting laboratory program leaves the nation's man-in-space field open for the civilian space agency's sole development.

Carl Heister Named Blue Cross Trustee

Carl Heister, second vice president and secretary of the Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Lancaster, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Blue Cross of Central Ohio, the Blue Cross Plan serving 29 counties in central and southern Ohio, including Pickaway. The Plan's headquarters are in Columbus.

The other newly elected member of the board is Dr. Tom F. Lewis, general surgeon in Columbus and a member of the Board of Trustees of Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Dr. Homer A. Anderson was elected as the new Chairman of the Board of Trustees. He succeeds retiring Chairman Don K. Weaver. Dr. Anderson has served as a member of the Blue Cross Board since 1964.

C. L. Dumaree, Assistant Superintendent - Administration Columbus Board of Education, succeeds Dr. Anderson as vice chairman. Dumaree became a member of the board in 1965.

Heister has long been active in church, civic and community affairs. He is a member of the Lancaster City Council and serves as chairman of the council's finance committee. He is also a member of the Lancaster Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and is secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

Heister is married to the former Phyllis Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clifton, 307 S. Court St.

In announcing Heister's election, Howard C. Franz, President of Blue Cross of Central Ohio, said: "We welcome Heister's membership on the Blue Cross Board. His experience will enable him to provide the counsel that is always welcomed by Blue Cross in helping it continue to grow as a vital force in meeting the health care needs of our community."

General Tele Expands Facility At Pleasantville

PLEASANTVILLE — A $19,900 expansion of this community's central office switching equipment started last February will be completed by July 1, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

Keith Wagner, Circleville district commercial manager, said the project will provide 100 new customer lines and additional calling paths between Pleasantville and surrounding communities.

The manager said the projects will provide for increasing telephone usage throughout the area.

Pleasantville exchange serves more than 500 telephones, having an average of 26.1 phones per square mile. The exchange covers almost 20 square miles in Fairfield and Perry counties.

Energy released by just one pound of the sun would keep a kitchen stove going with all burners on for several hundred years.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration for some time has been pushing its own plan for an "orbiting workshop" where scientists would conduct experiments in astronomy, medicine and other fields.

NASA sources acknowledge there has been some conflict because both the Air Force's MOL and the civilian orbiting workshop would be embryonic space stations, and an increasingly economy-minded Congress might balk at a seeming duplication.

The Pentagon action Tuesday in scrubbing the military program

The Dogon tribe of West Africa believes weaving originated with a spirit who spat out sacred thread and wove it on a loom made from his jaws, teeth and lips, National Geographic says.

gram to save money has resolved the issue of overlap.

But whatever else the planned civilian space station can do, it will not be able to spy on the Soviet Union and Red China, as the military MOL reportedly would have done.

The civilian station will be in the wrong kind of orbit—an equatorial orbit which a NASA spokesman said would not be over any great land mass.

The Air Force space laboratory was supposed to have been launched into a polar orbit carrying it over the Soviet Union and Red China.

Although Pentagon authorities refused to discuss whether the MOL had a spy mission, NASA sources said "The military project would have conducted some kind of surveillance," probably photographic.

Announcing the MOL cancellation, Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard indicated that unmanned satellites can do the job as well.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. George T. Harding III of suburban Worthington was elected president of the state Library Board Tuesday. George W. Coen, Lancaster attorney, was named vice president.

Lukens Studies Bill On Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation calling for the federal government to underwrite the entire cost of replacing a major bridge found unsafe may be drafted if the government doesn't increase its present 50 per cent maximum, Rep. Donald "Buz" Lukens said Tuesday. The Ohio Republican said he has asked the Bureau of Public Roads to reconsider the present maximum as it applies to the C & O Bridge between Cincinnati and Covington, Ky. The structure, spanning the Ohio River, was closed last November when Kentucky engineers found it unsafe. The new proposed bridge, to be located upstream, will cost an estimated 15 million.

Jury Acquits Detroit Officer

MASON Mich. (AP) — An all-white jury has found a suspended white policeman innocent of murdering a Negro youth during Detroit's 1967 racial riot. But he still faces a federal conspiracy charge in the Algiers Motel incident.

It took the jury of 11 women and one man less than three hours Tuesday to return the acquittal verdict after Circuit Judge William Beebe limited them to two choices: a first-degree murder conviction or a not-guilty finding.

Judge Beebe gave no explanation of why he ruled out second-degree murder or manslaughter.

More Testimony On Defense Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Air Force management consultant has told Congress that costs for the nation's primary offensive missiles will run about $3.7 billion over original estimates.

C. Merton Tyrrell, vice president of Performance Technology Corp., told a joint House-Senate economic subcommittee

Tuesday that in 1962 the Air Force had calculated the cost of 500 Minuteman II missiles at $3.28 billion, but that the cost would be about $7 billion instead.

An Air Force spokesman later disputed Tyrrell's figures, but acknowledged a cost overrun of about $2 billion would be likely. The spokesman said the Pentagon put the cost of the Minuteman II at $5.2 billion.

Tyrrell's firm was hired in 1963 and for 3½ years made studies of four major contractors on the project.

Another congressional committee six weeks ago heard testimony that Tyrrell's company had been broken by slow payments from the Air Force, allegedly because the firm was coming up with too many embarrassing findings.

The estimate of the huge Minuteman II cost overrun comes at a time when many congressmen are fuming over an estimated $2 billion boost over original estimates for the C5A super transport.

Another witness before the joint subcommittee on military spending charged that the Pentagon and defense contractors

"play games" to underestimate purposely the cost of proposed weapons systems.

Gordon W. Rule, director of procurement control and clearance in the Navy material division, said this "disingenuous" process is used to lure Congress into long-term procurement of weapons whose true costs will be disclosed only in later years.

Rule said "we must stop playing games."

Another hearing Tuesday brought charges from Sen. Ralph Yarborough that the Bureau of the Budget is maintaining a double standard by keeping tight rein on domestic spending while exercising little control over defense expenditures.

The Texas Democrat assailed the bureau as an "adjunct of the Defense Department" during a Senate appropriations subcommittee hearing.

Yarborough's remarks came after testimony the bureau has 30 examiners for $27 billion in domestic social programs and just 32 for the $80 billion in defense programs.

Philip Hughes, deputy budget director, defended his agency by saying "we feel we give a good review to the defense budget."

Yarborough, in an interview, summed up what he said he learned at the hearing. "The Budget Bureau tells the civilian departments what to do," he said, "but for the Defense budget, the Pentagon tells the Budget Bureau what to do."

"There is no control over them except for the President," he said.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird also appeared before the Appropriations defense subcommittee. "There has been too much over-optimism both on the part of industry and the services in launching new weapon acquisition programs,"

The secretary said he is establishing a panel of outside experts "to take a comprehensive look not only at the management of weapons acquisition practices but also at operations of the department and its internal organization."

In the future, Laird said, "except for certain urgent programs, production will not be initiated until major uncertainties have been eliminated."

Cancel MOL For Savings In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Thursday announced cancellation of the Air Force's $3 billion Manned Orbiting Laboratory program because of "the continuing urgency of reducing federal defense spending."

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard told reporters this means the Pentagon is giving up the idea of a military manned satellite systems in time being."

In addition to citing budget cutting pressure, Packard said the decision to cancel the project, was based on "advances in automated techniques for unmanned satellite systems in such fields as research, communications, navigation and meteorology."

He refused to discuss any spy mission the Manned Orbiting Laboratory would have had.

Packard estimated that, as a result of the cancellation, close to $300 million will be saved in spending during the coming fiscal year.

Cancellation will save about $1.5 billion over the next five years, Packard estimated.

The Manned Orbiting Laboratory project was announced by the Lyndon B. Johnson administration in December 1963.

It contemplated sending up two-man crews who would have lived and worked in a 30,000-pound, 72-foot-long spacecraft for 30 days.

The first manned flight would have been staged this coming December, according to the original plan, but a combination of factors have slipped the program objective to mid-1972.

Boy, Girl Follow Instructions To The Letter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Myrna Price of suburban Woodson Terrace handed her son Eddie and neighbor Julie Dulaney, a pair of 10-year-olds, two containers of discarded clothing at 11 a.m. Tuesday and told them to drop the items in a Goodwill Industries collection box on a nearby corner.

Eddie and Julie couldn't find that box so they kept walking until they found one—on a St. Louis corner 10 miles from home along busy Interstate 70.

Police found the youngsters in a service station about 7 p.m., tired, thirsty and lost, but their mission complete.

"They walked every step of the way," said still-shaken Mrs. Price.

More Testimony On Defense Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Air Force management consultant has told Congress that costs for the nation's primary offensive missiles will run about $3.7 billion over original estimates.

C. Merton Tyrrell, vice president of Performance Technology Corp., told a joint House-Senate economic subcommittee Tuesday that in 1962 the Air Force had calculated the cost of 500 Minuteman II missiles at $3.268 billion, but that the cost would be about $7 billion instead.

An Air Force spokesman later disputed Tyrrell's figures, but acknowledged a cost overrun of about $2 billion would be likely. The spokesman said the Pentagon put the cost of the Minuteman II at $5.2 billion.

Tyrrell's firm was hired in 1963 and for 3½ years made studies of four major contractors on the project.

Another congressional committee six weeks ago heard testimony that Tyrrell's company had been broken by slow payments from the Air Force, allegedly because the firm was coming up with too many embarrassing findings.

The estimate of the huge Minuteman II cost overrun comes at a time when many congressmen are fuming over an estimated $2 billion boost over original estimates for the CSA super transport.

Another witness before the joint subcommittee on military spending charged that the Pentagon and defense contractors "play games" to underestimate purposely the cost of proposed weapons systems.

Gordon W. Rule, director of procurement control and clearance in the Navy material division, said this "disingenuous" process is used to lure Congress into long-term procurement of weapons whose true costs will be disclosed only in later years.

Rule said "we must stop playing games."

Another hearing Tuesday brought charges from Sen. Ralph Yarborough that the Bureau of the Budget is maintaining a double standard by keeping tight rein on domestic spending while exercising little control over defense expenditures.

The Texas Democrat assailed the bureau as an "adjunct of the Defense Department" during a Senate appropriations subcommittee hearing.

Yarborough's remarks came after testimony the bureau has 30 examiners for $27 billion in domestic social programs and just 32 for the $80 billion in defense programs.

Philip Hughes, deputy budget director, defended his agency by saying "we feel we give a good review to the defense budget."

Yarborough, in an interview, summed up what he said he learned at the hearing. "The Budget Bureau tells the civilian departments what to do," he said, "but for the Defense Budget, the Pentagon tells the Budget Bureau what to do."

"There is no control over them except for the President," he said.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird also appeared before the Appropriations defense subcommittee, saying "there has been too much over-optimism both on the part of industry and the services in launching new weapon acquisition programs."

The secretary said he is establishing a panel of outside experts "to take a comprehensive look not only at the management of weapons acquisition practices but also at operations of the department and its internal organization."

In the future, Laird said, "except for certain urgent programs, production will not be initiated until major uncertainties have been eliminated."

Cancel MOL For Savings In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Thursday announced cancellation of the Air Force's $3 billion Manned Orbiting Laboratory program because of "the continuing urgency of reducing federal defense spending."

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard told reporters this means the Pentagon is giving up the idea of a military manned satellite systems in time being."

In addition to citing budget cutting pressure, Packard said the decision to cancel the project, was based on "advances in automated techniques for unmanned satellite systems in such fields as research, communications, navigation and meteorology."

He refused to discuss any spy mission the Manned Orbiting Laboratory would have had.

Packard estimated that, as a result of the cancellation, close to $300 million will be saved in spending during the coming fiscal year.

Cancellation will save about $1.5 billion over the next five years, Packard estimated.

The Manned Orbiting Laboratory project was announced by the Lyndon B. Johnson administration in December 1963.

It contemplated sending up two-man crews who would have lived and worked in a 30,000-pound, 72-foot-long spacecraft for 30 days.

The first manned flight would have been staged this coming December, according to the original plan, but a combination of factors have slipped the program objective to mid-1972.

Boy, Girl Follow Instructions To The Letter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Myrna Price of suburban Woodson Terrace handed her son Eddie and neighbor Julie Dulaney, a pair of 10-year-olds, two containers of discarded clothing at 11 a.m. Tuesday and told them to drop the items in a Goodwill Industries collection box on a nearby corner.

Eddie and Julie couldn't find that box so they kept walking until they found one—on a St. Louis corner 10 miles from home along busy Interstate 70.

Police found the youngsters in a service station about 7 p.m., tired, thirsty and lost, but their mission complete.

"They walked every step of the way," said still-shaken Mrs. Price.

Washington's Social Season Falls Flat On Its Canapes

By KELLY SMITH TUNNEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — When Richard M. Nixon moved out and Lyndon B. Johnson moved out, one expected change in Washington—from Pennsylvania Avenue to Embassy Row.

Not every president can be expected to gobble tapioca pudding, mix scotch with branch water and kiss Sen. Everett M. Dirksen. Any more than one expects every president's daughter to date movie actor George Hamilton.

But switches in administrations are usually like switches in dance partners. Over the years, one finds the tempo doesn't change much after all. Gerry Van der Heuvel moves in, Liz Carpenter moves out, the British get a new ambassador and the Marine Band plays on.

But this year it didn't. This year something happened that has not occurred during any change of administrations, for so long as Washingtonians can remember. Suddenly there were not so many parties, not so many dinners, not so much to read about in the local newspapers, and the caterers were operating in the red.

The new people didn't notice it. The old people can't define it. "It's like everyone is waiting for something, someone," said one who has lived in the city social life for some 20 years. "I've never been so bored, I've never here for years, and I've never seen this town sitting around on its thumbs before."

Said another woman, "It's like everyone is uptight—but they don't know about what. Someone tells a joke at a party and no one laughs. Instead of going out every night, we go out maybe once or twice a week."

Betty Beale, columnist for the Washington Star, and a lifelong resident of the city, called it "the silent spring."

"For years," she wrote, "the biggest social season was in April or May. Prominent party goers who might get 10 or 15 invitations during the rest of the year usually receive 20 to 25 invitations a week in these two months. But is this happening today? The answer seems to be a resounding no."

It should be pointed out that Washington at its peak can have as many as several hundred parties a week. An ambassador, at his busiest, attends two receptions and a black-tie dinner every night.

This spring the pace slowed, then like an old record, faded. Even the caterers, usually in a frenzy with canapes, dinners, and last-minute functions, cried in their dough and said if things didn't shape up they'd move to Miami Beach.

Washingtonians have lots of theories for the unusual quiet.

1. Concern over Vietnam. But Vietnam has been with administrations for several years, and if anything, it looks more hopeful today than several springs ago. People in Washington don't talk much about Vietnam during dinner anyway.

2. Guest List Complex. This theory holds that the White House has muffed it. That instead of inviting guests of varying backgrounds, the White House has aligned likes with likes: all diplomats at one function, all Republicans at another, so there's no true forum for meeting new people.

"No one knows anyone to give a party in honor of," said one ambassador, "and the situation is not good. There are more than 100 of us, about a third of whom are in the race to get key administration officials to our dinner tables. But we can't find an opportunity to meet them."

3. Republicans don't drink. True, fruit punch has been served at White House receptions. But sources in the know say this theory would be hard to prove.

4. Republicans aren't party people. Some say maybe key Republican officials aren't coming out because they prefer to stay home with a good game of checkers, that they prefer crackers and Ovaltine to formal dinners. At least one Republican of note says, off the record, that he does.

5. The swingers have left town. This theory is supported by a spot check of some of the beautiful people who made headlines and fancy reading during previous administrations.

Yolande Fox, the dark-eyed Miss America of 1951, a widow who set Washington on its heels with her avant-garde clothes and false eyelashes, is now living quietly in the suburbs, accepts practically no invitations. Cherif Guellal, the dashing dark-eyed Algerian ambassador who courted Yolande here and abroad, is no longer in his country's diplomatic service (Algeria has no relations with this country) and is also living in Washington, writing books, one a study of guerrilla warfare. He prefers to be private citizen Guellal.

Barbara Howar, the lovely, leggy blue-eyed blonde who was much on the scene of yesterday, first as a Johnson intimate then a Johnson dropout, is divorced and working on a television talk show called "Panorama."

She suggests the assassinations of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy changed the town's mood considerably.

Though Republicans get much of the blame for the quiet, it's not because some haven't tried.

One Republican hostess, a widow and the owner of a spacious mansion well equipped for parties, was asked why she hadn't given a large party.

"I'm dying to. I expected to. But who for? I expected to meet people—it's always been so easy. Now all these newcomers are here, from California or New York. What do you do, call up the Department of State and say 'I'm a fat-cat Republican and I want to give a party for you?'"

Why, asks a newcomer, are parties that significant? Why not work during the day and go home and get a good night's sleep?

Because parties are work in Washington. Because an opportunity for ambassadors, senators, businessmen, officialdom, to converse socially—perhaps a few words in the corner—has done much toward settling diplomatic bruises, reaching agreements, negotiating war and peace in the past.

The White House, which during Johnson years was more crowded, more informal, more unpredictable and more backslapping, has appeared socially as sedate, pleasant, polite and extremely correct.

If the President is the social barometer, Nixon's comments to a congressional reception might be a clue. "We all tend to be quite provincial," he said, "Even in Washington, we are provincial."

Mount Vernon Mayor Resigns

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Mark C. Kinney has resigned from the post after deciding to remain in Mexico City, where he has been vacationing since April 9.

Kinney advised city officials by letter Tuesday that the health of his wife, a native of Mexico City, requires that they remain in Mexico.

The president and general manager of the J. S. Ringwalt Co. department store here, Kinney has been mayor for 4½ years. His unexpired term, which extends until December 1971, will be completed by City Council President Robert W. White.

Amazing Mets Defeat San Francisco, 9-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
For the first time in their celebrated eight-year history, the New York Mets are truly Amazing... except to themselves.

Gil Hodges' grown-up expansion urchins, sparked by a repatriated pitcher and a rejuvenated slugger, socked the San Francisco Giants 9-4 Tuesday night for their 11th consecutive victory... longest winning streak in the majors this season.

Tommie Agee cracked four hits, including a pair of homers, and Don Cardwell hurled eight brilliant innings before tiring as the Mets shot six games over the once-elusive .500 mark and solidified their hold on second place in the National League East.

Agee, the fleet center fielder whose home run total slipped from 22 in 1966, when he was the American League's Rookie of the Year at Chicago, to 14 in 1967 with the White Sox and five last season with the Mets, drove in three runs with his eighth and ninth homers and one of his two singles.

Cardwell, called off bullpen duty for his first start since May 15, checked the Giants on two hits until the ninth, when he needed relief help from Ron Taylor, and earned his first victory in more than a month.

New York remained seven games behind the front-running Chicago Cubs, who overtook Atlanta 3-1 behind Ken Holtzman's pitching and home runs by Willie Smith and Ron Santo. Los Angeles climbed within one game of the West Division leading Braves with a 2-1 nod over skidding Philadelphia; Houston downed Pittsburgh 7-4; St. Louis shaded Cincinnati 5-4 and Montreal topped San Diego 7-4 in other NL action.

"The old Mets are dead, baby!" Agee beamed after boosting his batting average 18 points to .278 with four hits in five trips to the plate against loser Mike McCormick and two successors. He has driven in 26 runs, nine more than his total for the 1968 season, when he batted just .217.

"Hodges has done a magnificent job with this club...better than anyone else," said Cardwell, 33-year-old dean of New York's fuzzy-checked pitching staff, who contributed three singles and a sacrifice fly to the Mets' 12-hit attack and brought his season pitching mark to 2-6.

"He's instilling pride and confidence in the players. We've got more incentive now and we are bearing down more." The strapping right-hander, backed by Agee's slugging and a three-run homer by Cleon Jones, took a 9-1 lead into the ninth. Then, Willie McCovey blasted his 20th homer, stretching a hitting streak to 15 games, and Jack Hiatt poled a two-run homer. Taylor came on to get the last two outs and cement Cardwell's first triumph since May 6.

The Cubs trailed right-hander Ron Reed 1-0 in the eighth inning at Atlanta when Smith smacked a pinch hit homer and Santo unloaded his 10th circuit of the season after an error by Orlando Cepeda.

Holtzman, who has lost only once, became the majors' first 10-game winner with ninth-inning help from Phil Regan as the Cubs nailed their eighth victory in the last nine games.

Ted Sizemore lashed a bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth, carrying right-hander Don Sutton and the Dodgers past the Phillies, who have lost nine in a row.

Sutton, 9-4, scattered seven hits in a duel with Woody Fryman.

But the Reds weren't through. In the bottom of the ninth with two out and a full count on pinch hitter Ted Savage, the spotlight shifted to Flood. Savage walloped the ball deep, deep into center field - but Flood was there and made a leaping one-hand catch to end the game.

"I don't think I could have got any higher than I did to catch that ball," Flood said. "I knew it was going to be close and I just hoped I could get the ball."

Cincinnati starter Tony Cloninger, 4-7, pitched superb ball after the Cards' four hit first inning. He allowed but one other hit—an infield single—during his final six innings.

Bobby Tolan accounted for two Cincinnati RBI's and teammate Pete Rose, who has been in a hitting slump this season, hanged a solo homer in the fourth and pushed his average to an even .300. He also got a single.

Rose has not been on or above the .300 mark since April 27. A misjudged fly ball in the first inning after Lou Brock's lead-off homer opened the four-run St. Louis rally. Alex Johnson misjudged a well-hit ball into left field and Flood went around the bases for a stand-up triple.

He opened with a single off reliever Clay Carroll, stole second and continued to third on catcher Johnny Bench's throwing error. Vada Pinson then doubled him home.

A length behind, in third place was Mary K. Creed, owned by Mary Fissell. The brown mare, driven by Jim Mace and trained by Forrest Short, paid $5.80.

In the third race, Tally Time, the Jim Arledge driven, Frank Bowling owned mare took a third place finish, paying $6.20.

Scioto Downs recorded a record daily double payoff of $1,173.40 Tuesday night on the 9-2 combination of Instant Image and Ima Sputnik.

Nineteen bettors had winning tickets on the combination, which topped the old record of $1,135.20 set on Aug. 14, 1960.

Instant Image paid $44.80 in the first race and Ima Sputnik returned $75.80.

The 3-6 quinells paid 78.60. A crowd of 6,852 wagered $238,048.

1.5 Transfer Station means any place or premises where solid wastes are unloaded or reloaded for shipment to a final disposal site.

Section 2. Premise Maintenance

2.1 No person shall store, place, burn or dispose on his premises or the premises of another or permit the accumulation on his premises, any solid waste in such a manner whereby it will become a rodent or insect harborage or breeding place, or create a health menace, insanitary condition, or nuisance.

Section 3. Registration

3.1 No person shall engage in the business of solid waste collection or operate a transfer station unless he possesses a registration certificate issued by the Board of Health of the Pickaway County General Health District, and agrees to deliver all collections to the approved County Disposal Site. The board of health may suspend or revoke the certificate or by a written attached to the registration certificate the conditions under which it is issued to insure the proper collection of all refuse in accordance with this regulation. The registration fee shall be $10.00 annually payable in advance to the Pickaway County Health District, for the purpose of inspection, administration and enforcement of these regulations.

3.5 The Board of Health may revoke or suspend the registration certificate of any person to collect solid waste or operate a transfer station who has demonstrated instability or unwillingness to comply with this regulation.

3.6 Any person whose application for a registration certificate has been denied, suspended or revoked may make written request for a hearing before the Board of Health of the Pickaway County General Health District. The Board of Health shall grant such hearing within a reasonable time after request is made therefor.

Section 4. Solid Waste Collection

4.1 All vehicles used for the collection and transportation of solid waste shall have enclosed bodies, or as otherwise approved in writing on the application and certificate by the Health Commissioner.
